Closing Of Mount Pocono Station Defended By State Police Head

CLOSE grouping of sub-stations in this area is one reason for the proposed closing of the Mount Pocono Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police, according to Col. Frank G. McCartney, commissioner.

In a letter to The Daily Record, Col. McCartney, said the proposal to close the station is in line with efforts to modernize the State Police.

"In the broad plan, cognizance has been taken of population, highway mileage, traffic volume and the criminal situation. "Nowhere else in the Commonwealth is there such a close grouping of sub-stations and this change has been contemplated for quite some time.

"The necessity for numerous closely spaced sub-stations has diminished with the advent of efficient police equipment and modern communications.

"As to the number of men assigned to Monroe County, this is a flexible situation. The Pennsylvania State Police being a semi-military organization makes it possible to shift men at a moment's notice to your area when warranted. . . .

"Increased Service"

"I assure you that this proposed change will not detrimentally affect the services and protection presently rendered by the department to the residents and tourists of Monroe County.

On that contrary, these services will be increased in a more efficient manner and with less cost to the taxpayer."

McCartney's letter was written after an editorial protesting closing of the sub-station appeared in this newspaper.

Among the first organizations to protest the proposed closing was the Tobyhanna Community Council.

A letter written to Gov. David L. Lawrence on July 20 was forwarded to McCartney for reply.

McCartney told the group "adjustment of this situation (concentration of sub-stations) was inevitable."

Tobyhanna "Considered"

He added that personnel of the sub-station will be transferred to the remaining sub-station in the county (Stroudsburg) and "we firmly believe that this change will result in better service to the people of your community."

In reply to a suggestion by the council that the Daleville sub-station be moved to Tobyhanna, McCartney said it had not been contemplated, "but it will be given careful consideration."

In a subsequent letter, written July 31, the council, through its secretary-treasurer, Harry G. Fuqua, suggested that there is a "very heavy concentration of accident provoking conditions around Tobyhanna."

It called attention to the fact that the new Penn-Can Highway will have one of its major cloverleaf intersections in the village and the volume of traffic at Tobyhanna Signal Depot and Tobyhanna State Park.

Poor Radio Contact

Citing the close coordination between troopers and Signal Depot officials, the council said "Radio contact between your proposed headquarters and patrol cars that are south of Mount Pocono would be erratic and non-dependable if at all possible."

It continued:

"We understand that you are considering a new permanent station at Dunmore. Again, we would like you to consider the equidistant factor of Tobyhanna versus Dunmore and Stroudsburg."

U. S. Assails Russia For Laos Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States pointed an accusing finger at Moscow Wednesday in connection with armed Red attacks against the tiny Southeast Asian kingdom of Laos.

The U. S. statement, in advance of Nikita Khrushchev's visit to this country next month, underscored a point Washington hopes to impress on the Soviet Premier.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon cautioned Khrushchev in Moscow last Saturday against pushing for "victory of communism over the United States and other countries."

Fighting Reds

The Laotian government has been fighting Communists in border areas adjoining Red China and North Viet Nam. It says new weapons from Red China and Communist North Viet Nam have been supplied to the rebels in violation of the 1954 truce agreement ending the Indochina war.

Meanwhile negotiations over details of Khrushchev's tour in the United States were proceeding slowly.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said the Russians are expected to tell U. S. officials where Khrushchev would like to go and U. S. authorities will offer suggestions of their own "since this is an attempt to give a cross section of what America is like."

Part of the process involves notifying governors, mayors and other local leaders of plans for Khrushchev's visit, Reap said. Thus a final itinerary might not be fixed until a week before the Soviet chief's expected arrival date of Sept. 15, he said.

Steel Deadlock In Fourth Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America bargained for a third day in a row Wednesday with the steel-making industry. Apparently neither side gave ground.

Despite the continuing deadlock as the strike of 500,000 Steelworkers entered on its fourth week, chief federal mediator Joseph F. Finnegan reported: "Any time parties get together and quit laying down publicity barages and go at things in a workmanlike way, it's progress."

Steven Rockefeller Has First Argument With Intended Bride Over Church Site

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Steven Rockefeller and his intended Norwegian bride went to a funeral Wednesday. The heir to millions, and the honey-haired girl who once was a maid in the household of Steven's father, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, met a family duty which cast a shadow over their wait for matrimony.

The service was held for Theodor Lohne, uncle of Anne Marie Rasmussen who will wed young Rockefeller Aug. 22 in the nearby village of Soegne. The uncle died Sunday, the day the wedding plans were announced.

Rockefeller and his fiancee sat in the front pew of the old Lunde church, along with other members of the family. The funeral may influence the decision on a choice of the old or the "new" church for the wedding. The young couple are having their first argument over just this.

Anne Marie said she wants the ceremony to take place in the larger and newer Lunde church where she was christened and confirmed in the Norwegian Lutheran state church.

Friends of the family said it looked as if Anne Marie will have her way. Kristian Rasmussen, Anne Marie's father, said he was pretty certain it would be the new church after all.

Cresco Cub Scout Honored For Saving Life Of Buddy

A SPECIAL court of honor was held last night at Camp Weygand for Cub Scout John McCoy. John received a certificate of merit for saving the life of Bradley Shoemith last Sept. 6.

He is the son of Mrs. Elnora and the late Harry A. McCoy, Cresco.

When asked to explain the circumstances of his action the brown eyed, light haired cub had this to say about his experience at Sandy Beach on the Delaware River.

Playing In Boat

"He and I were swimming and he was playing with a boat. The boat went out a little ways and he asked me to get it for him because I was a better swimmer than he was. He was showing me where the boat was and he went over his head."

John told how Bradley held on to his shoulders while he swam into shore. He said he thought he swam about six feet to the shore with Bradley holding onto him.

The incident took place last Sept. 6 while John and the family of Mrs. Jennie Shoemith were camping on the property of Blanchard Michaels.

Gift From Scouts

Last night, John was also wearing a new watch presented to him by members of his Cub Pack 89 in reward for his deed.

Though shy in being questioned, he said that he was surprised and happy to be receiving the award. He had not known about it until two weeks ago.

Also present for the ceremony were Bradley Shoemith, Mrs. Elnora McCoy and Joseph Vogt, institutional representative for the Pocono Mountain Rotary Club which sponsored the program.

Big 4 Fail, End Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers Wednesday suspended their 10-week search for a Berlin settlement. They adjourned after narrowing their differences and deciding to try again some time.

The talks of President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Washington next month could help the four-power negotiations to reach a standstill agreement.

New Civil Rights Bill Prepared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civil rights bill striking at school desegregation violence and concealment of election records, but stripped of other key provisions sought by President Eisenhower and Northern Democrats, headed Wednesday for House consideration.

The Judiciary Committee, which had argued bitterly for more than a week over measures to broaden the existing civil rights law, approved the cut-down measure behind closed doors by a reported 17-13 vote.

Less Than Inch Of Rain Falls

RAIN stopped last night after two days of intermittent rainfall.

A total of .80 inches of rain fell in Stroudsburg as measured on The Daily Record's rain gauge.

This marks the total amount of rainfall so far in August and is .05 inches more than fell by this time last month.

Severe Gale

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — One of the worst gales in 50 years battered southeastern Australia Wednesday night. In Victoria, 56 m.p.h. winds unroofed about 100 homes. Thousands of uprooted trees were tossed across roads. Power lines fell, blacking out many areas.

Measure Sent To Senate By 116-85 Vote

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House pushed through Wednesday a compromise plan to increase the 3½ per cent sales tax to 4 per cent, thanks to a hefty Republican assist.

The 116-85 vote saw 18 Republicans join with 98 Democrats in breaking the tax stalemate and send the 148½-million-dollar measure to the Senate.

The Republican-controlled Senate is expected to give its approval in the next week or two and place it on the desk of Gov. Lawrence. Lawrence was represented by the House Democratic leadership as willing to sign the bill.

In addition to increasing the rate, the sales tax legislation would extend the levy to soft drinks, automobile inspection sticker fees, laundry and dry cleaning services and retail sales made by beer distributors and at state liquor stores.

Up To Senate

Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader said passage of the four per cent sales tax completed the House's task of balancing the Governor's revised $1-870,000,000 budget in the next two years. It was up to the Senate, he said, to follow through.

The vote climaxed a day of to-and-fro developments in the House. The "big four" of labor—AFL, CIO, railroad brotherhoods and United Mine Workers—came out in the morning with a joint statement opposing the measure.

A key action occurred in the House Republican caucus. Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, went behind closed doors on a selling job to round up votes to help the Democrats.

The 1½ hour session wound up with Johnson's announcement that the necessary votes were available. From then on the outcome was cut and dried.

After the roll call ended, McCann immediately sought to put to a final vote a proposed constitutional amendment to allow a graduated income tax.

He said Democrats have supported a graduated income levy in principle for many years. But Republicans said they wanted to caucus on it so a vote was put off until next week. But no matter what happens in the House, a graduated income tax is expected to get nowhere among Republicans in the Senate.

The increased sales tax revenue under the House-passed bill is broken down this way:

Increased rate, 76½ millions; laundry and dry cleaning services, 25 millions; auto inspections, $1-200,000; soft drinks, $670,000; and beer and liquor, $33,300,000.

The House also has passed a plan to impose a 6-mill personal property tax to raise 55 millions, bring natural gas firms under the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities for 11 millions and double the 4-mill bank shares tax to yield an additional 12½ millions.

With the sales tax, the entire program would yield 227 millions in the next two years. McCann says that — with 19 millions in spending cuts—is enough to balance the budget.

Senate Republicans, however, are on record favoring scuttling the proposed personal property levy. They prefer cutting the budget by about 60 millions to balance it.

Both the House and Senate recessed until next Monday with only minor developments on other legislation.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The roll-call vote in the House on the 116-85 passage of a plan to increase the 3½ per cent sales tax to 4 per cent Wednesday showed:

Republicans for (18) — Bowman, Down, Gramlich, Helm, Hocker, A. W. Johnson, Korn, McNroy, Markley, Merry, Nangle, Royer, Steckel, Stevens, Stimmel, Strausser, Tompkins, Wood.

Republicans absent (5) — Brown, Cooper, P. G. Murray, Thompson, Willard.

All other Republicans voted against the bill.

Democrats against (8) — Capano, Flynn, Galley, Luigard, O'Neil, Renwick, Stank, Welsh.

All other Democrats voted for the bill.

The Judiciary Committee, which had argued bitterly for more than a week over measures to broaden the existing civil rights law, approved the cut-down measure behind closed doors by a reported 17-13 vote.

Edgar Guest, Poet, Dies After Stroke

DETROIT (AP) — Edgar A. Guest, the newspaper poet who wrote verses that plain people liked, died in his sleep at his home here early Wednesday. He would have been 78 on Aug. 20.

He apparently suffered a cerebral stroke.

Often called the poet of the plain people, Guest wrote rhymes for a half a century for the Detroit Free Press. His verses were syndicated and at the peak of his popularity appeared in 300 newspapers.

Little Things

Guest wrote with a love of little things of life. One of his most frequently quoted poems started with the line: "It takes a heap of 'lvin' in a house 't make it home."

In dashing out verses for daily publication, Guest never pretended to be a great poet. He preferred to be called a newspaperman.

He had been in ill health in recent years. Nevertheless, his poems appeared regularly in the Free Press and other newspapers up to the time of his death.

Senate Confirms Cabinet Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick H. Mueller, a 65-year-old Michigan Republican who used to manufacture furniture, won unanimous approval from the Senate Commerce Committee to be Secretary of Commerce.

The Senate may act on confirmation Thursday or Friday.

Mueller has been serving as acting secretary since June 30, when Lewis L. Strauss resigned after the Senate refused to confirm him in the post.

Good Morning!

Nikita Sees Self As Man Of Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said Wednesday he is going to Washington as a man of peace without any sabre rattling. He promised not to brag about the power of Soviet rockets.

Bouncy, wisecracking and in good humor, he jostled with newsmen for an hour and a half in the Kremlin's high-domed Sverdlov hall. It was his first meeting with the press since Monday's announcement of the forthcoming exchange of visits with President Eisenhower.

"I am going as a peaceful man," Khrushchev told about 300 Soviet and foreign correspondents. "I will turn out my pockets to show I have no weapons."

Newsmen Laugh

As the press corps laughed, Khrushchev made a gesture of turning out the insides of his coat and pants pockets.

The conference produced a number of Khrushchev comments on the visit. They showed no major changes in Soviet policy.

In addition to plunging again and again his theme that the fourth coming talks between the world's two most powerful nations should promote peace, Khrushchev took pains to allay possible fears among America's friends that the meeting might try to divide the world in a secret deal.

"It is not designed to discuss matters relating to other countries," he said.

Khrushchev also:

1. Welcomed Eisenhower's plans to consult the Western Allies beforehand and said the Soviet Union probably will do the same with its allies.

Not As Negotiator

2. Said his talks with Eisenhower will be informal "conversations" and not diplomatic negotiations in the formal sense. Khrushchev said he does not regard the form of the meetings as important, but left no doubt that he does regard them as a step toward a formal summit conference.

3. Gave assurance that the Soviet Union will take no steps to change the present situation in Germany or Berlin during the meetings this fall. But he also made it clear that the Soviets still want the Western Allies out of Berlin, and want a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

4. Said he does not want to address the U.S. Congress unless it really wants to hear him, but that he might address the American people on a national television hookup offered by the National Broadcasting Co.

Khrushchev gave no precise date for the exchange of visits but confirmed earlier Washington announcements that he would arrive in the United States in mid-September and Eisenhower would come here sometime later in the fall.

"If these two powers establish good relations, if they cooperate for peace, there will be lasting peace on earth," he said in an opening statement.

Governors End San Juan Talks

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The nation's governors brought their 51st annual conference to a close Wednesday with wrangling, compromising and a bid to their Soviet counterparts to visit the United States.

On what they said was the gravest issue confronting the states, the governors dodged a fight and sent up a compromise call to President Eisenhower and Congress to settle their differences and keep the vast interstate highway program going.

Walter Charges Khrushchev 'Forced Door Into House'

SOVIET PREMIER Nikita Khrushchev "has forced the door into our house," Congressman Francis E. Walter (D-Easton) declared in a statement commenting on the Russian's forthcoming visit to the United States.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Mr. Khrushchev has forced the door into our house," he said. "True, he did not shoot his way in but he threatened to shoot if he could not have it his way."

"By ordering Gromyko to sit tight in Geneva and by continuing to build fires in Berlin, Khrushchev has created a situation where President Eisenhower found it proper to depart from the advice that the late John Foster Dulles left with us: Not to yield unilaterally but to demand that there will be give and take on both sides before there is a 'summit meeting' of its equivalent."

"I hope and pray that President Eisenhower knows exactly what he is doing and where he is leading the United States."

"I hope and pray that Mr. Khrushchev's victory in obtaining an invitation to the United States will not lead to the letting down of our guard and exposing ourselves to further blackmail."

Nixon Finds Soviet People 'Desperately Want Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew back from his Iron Curtain mission Wednesday to a roaring welcome and official thanks for doing "a tremendous job."

He brought with him the message that "the people of the Soviet Union have suffered a great deal in war, and they desperately want peace, just as the American people want peace."

He told the enthusiastic crowd that swarmed around him and his wife, Pat, at Washington National Airport, much good may come from the visit. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will make to America next month.

Allow House To Amend Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was given free rein Wednesday to shape a labor bill on the floor. Meanwhile, President Eisenhower moved to carry to the nation his battle for stricter controls on unions.

"It's going to be a Donnybrook," predicted Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) of the House Rules Committee in announcing wide open conditions for House consideration of the labor issue starting next Tuesday.

The rules group, which decides how legislation is to be handled, agreed to allow unlimited amendments to a bill fashioned by the House Labor Committee, but shunned by most of its members.

Tougher Bill

This means a bloc of Republican-Southern Democratic congressmen will be able to offer what they consider a tougher bill—a measure backed by Eisenhower. It also means a faction of Northern and Western Democrats will be able to put forward a rival version supported by organized labor.

The stage was set several hours after the White House announced Eisenhower's decision to throw his prestige into the fight.

Eisenhower will speak 15 minutes Thursday night, starting at 7:30 p.m. over major television and radio networks. The President's subject: "The need of the Congress to enact this year effective labor reform legislation."

The President's move evoked angry outcries from some Democrats who disagree with him on the form of anticorruption legislation.

Flashing Lights For Patrol Cars

HARRISBURG (AP) — Flashing red lamps will be mounted on 36 state police cars used to patrol the Pennsylvania Turnpike, it was announced Wednesday.

Joseph J. Lawler, turnpike commission chairman, and State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney said the lamps will further identify police vehicles and will aid in the performance of emergency duties.

Yesterday's Death

Mrs. Martha Kistler, 50 formerly of Stroudsburg, died yesterday in Packerack Lake, N. J.—Page Five.

Bensinger Reports On New Group

THE Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River is one of four groups working in connection with the development of the river for future use.

Charles R. Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney who is president of the group, described the association's work to the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club yesterday.

The non-profit, non-partisan association with a membership representing a wide variety of interests, from business groups to hunting clubs, along the entire watershed, was formed May 22, 1959, he said.

Group's Duties

Its purpose is to spread information on the plans produced by the Army Corps of Engineers for the river. The association also reports on studies by the Delaware River Basin Research Foundation and solicits views and reactions of people living in the river basin.

After the August, 1955 floods along the Delaware River, President Eisenhower called a conference.

The result was a two million dollar study by the Philadelphia District of the Army Corps of Engineers and 19 other government departments. This study is now nearing completion.

Another Agency

A Delaware River Advisory Committee was also set up. It comprises six persons, one each appointed by the governors of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware and the two cities of New York and Philadelphia. These are the governing bodies with the most direct interest in the river. This committee of six keeps the state and city governments advised on developments concerning the river.

The president's conference also brought about formation of the Delaware River Basin Research, Inc., now known as the Research Foundation. It makes the technical analysis of the engineers' reports and procures funds for specific studies and related projects.

Bensinger described the Delaware River Valley as one percent of the land in the United States. Thirteen percent of the county's population lives in it, including 17 percent of the nation's people employed in manufacturing and 15 percent in service industries.

Aliens May Now Own Dogs

UNNATURALIZED, foreign-born residents in Pennsylvania can now own dogs. The House passed a bill to this effect Tuesday.

Three years ago George Welkoff, a displaced person from Bulgaria, was put in Northampton County jail two days for keeping a German shepherd dog at his Hellertown home. His fine and costs amounted to $34.

Police Hold Driver After Crash Here

FRANK J. Bruno, 38, Union, N.J., was released from Monroe County Jail last night under $500 bail for court action on charges of drunken driving.

Bruno was arrested by Stroudsburg police about 2:30 a.m. yesterday after his car knocked over a route marker sign at Ninth and Main St. and scraped the side of a car owned by Harry Deiter of Stroudsburg which was parked at a service station at Seventh and Main Sts.

His bail was set at a hearing before Peace Justice John C. Foelker.

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department sources said Tuesday it is all set now for Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to become a special assistant to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, dealing with Soviet Affairs.

Monroe County's Per Capita Revenues Exceed Expenditures During 1957 Year

(Record Harrisburg Bureau) HARRISBURG — On a per capita basis, Monroe County revenues have been exceeding expenditures... the State Department of Internal Affairs disclosed today.

An exhaustive report covering analysis of county revenues throughout the state just completed by the department for the year 1957 shows per capita revenue for the county during the year standing at $9.33 while per capita expenditures in the county rounded out to $8.30.

Total revenue collected by the county (exclusive of state liquid fuels tax apportioned to communities) stood at $370,534 for the year, broken down along these lines: Real estate and occupational taxes, $249,316; personal property tax, $42,620; fines and forfeits, $6,289; interest and rent, $500; departmental earnings, $15,221, and "other revenue", $3,928.

On the outlay, or expenditure side, total Monroe County expenditures for the year were listed as $329,713. Of this total, according to the department, $170,702 was listed as "administrative" expenses.

Judicial costs in the county stood at $62,001; the county's penal and correctional program, $34,569; health and welfare, $12,939; civil defense expenditures, $6,571; interest on outstanding mon-tary obligations, $296, and "other miscellaneous expenditures" such as agriculture, military affairs, office of superintendent of schools, etc., $36,746.

Measure Gives Townships Right To Levy Wage Tax

BOTH THE STATE House and Senate have passed a bill giving Pennsylvania's 1,076 second class townships the right to impose local wage taxes.

As soon as the House concurs with a Senate amendment making the law effective immediately upon the signature of the governor, the bill will open up to these townships a fifth field of special taxation.

It may also spell trouble for school districts which are already hard pressed to raise adequate monies.

All of Monroe County's townships are second class, and school districts here are already drawing tax revenue from residents in them.

The bill would allow the townships either to enact a one per cent wage tax — if there is no school district levy — or attach half of the wage tax revenue collected by the district.

At present second class townships have the power to raise special taxes only through a per capita tax of not more than $5, a real estate transfer tax, admission to amusements such as athletic events and a tax on house trailers.

Until now the right to impose local wage taxes has been limited to school districts, cities, boroughs and first class townships.

Better Visibility

Governor Lawrence signed into law late last month a bill that prohibits Pennsylvania car owners from placing objects close to their windshields which might obstruct the visibility of the driver.

This means goodbye to baby shoes, rabbit feet, and other decorative items, under penalty of a $5 fine or three days imprisonment.

We haven't heard of accidents being attributed to such objects, and the number must be small. But if a single mishap is prevented in the next year by this new bill, the legislation will have justified itself.

As Governor Lawrence remarked as he affixed his signature to the measure, car manufacturers are designing automobiles for maximum visibility and it doesn't make sense that car owners should be permitted to obstruct it with knickknacks.

Disguising A Debt

To avoid raising Federal gasoline taxes to pay for the nation-wide highway construction program, the House Ways and Means Committee has mapped a way to get the money in a round-about fashion that ends up, all the same, at the Treasury's door.

To be sure, it's the Treasury's back door, and not the front. What the members wish to do is to float a $1 billion bond issue backed by highway tax revenues which will not be "legally" considered part of the public debt subject to the statutory debt limitation.

But the bonds would be Government obligations all the same, and the debt will still be Government debt.

Well, we suppose it's satisfying to the gentlemen on the committee to say of the debt, like the little man that wasn't there, that it just doesn't exist. But refusing to recognize debt as debt doesn't make it any less a debt.

The committee might just as well pass a law saying that all the wheat and corn in the Government support program doesn't exist on the ground that the committee wishes it would just go away.

This sort of public financing is not only irresponsibly foolish, it comes close to fiscal dishonesty, however well-meaning the committee might be. But it is not altogether surprising, for public awareness of the difficulties of management of the Federal debt and the dangers of inflation probably make it necessary to disguise another spur to inflation as much as possible.

And there isn't much question that deficit financing through borrowing is inflationary, no matter what Ponzi-like fiscal juggling the committee thinks will serve its purpose.

But financial juggling wasn't hard to predict, and many people did so when Congress first took up the question of building roads all over. For it was plain to everybody that if Congress launched a vast road program, that program had to be paid for, and that unless tax sources were provided, the Government would run into debt.

The honest thing for Congress to do is to face up to its obligations and meet the debt by raising the federal road taxes now that Congress has got itself to this deadend.

That would not only meet the responsibility honestly. It might even cause the public to ask whether it was necessary for the Federal Government to spend billions of dollars in a nationwide road system when the states had done the job very well all along.

Reports From Congress

Health Funds For Aged

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — Whether the Federal Government should provide health insurance for old people is shaping up as a major 1960 election issue.

The House Ways and Means Committee brought the issue center stage in recent hearings and a special Senate committee will keep it in the spotlight for the rest of the year. The Senate committee on problems of the aged plans to hold its investigation going even after Congress adjourns.

The recent House hearings were on a bill sponsored by Rep. Aime J. Forand (D-R.I.). The Forand bill would add health insurance to the present social security system.

The insurance would be financed by having workers and their employers each pay an extra one-quarter of one percent in social security taxes. Self-employed persons would pay an extra three-eighths of one percent. At retirement, those under social security would be eligible for the health insurance benefits.

The benefits in the Forand bill include up to 120 days of hospital and nursing home care a year. Surgery also would be covered. The patients would pick their own doctors, similar to the way they do under current Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. The Government would run the program.

Pro and Con — Forand contends there is no other solution. He says old people cannot get adequate health insurance from private sources at reasonable rates. The consequences are often the wiping out of life-long savings or forcing oldsters to go to relatives or the government for help.

The Forand bill is backed by several national organizations, including the AFL-CIO and American Nursing Assn. Nelson H. Cruikshank, AFL-CIO social security chief, told the House Ways and Means Committee that the Forand plan actually would help private insurance by taking on the high risk old people.

He said private health plans will never be able to give adequate coverage at reasonable rates to old people because of the high risk. "Waiting for this to happen," he said, "is like waiting for a hippopotamus to fly."

The Eisenhower Administration and American Medical Assn. are at the forefront of those saying that private resources, given time, can do the job. Both oppose the Forand bill. The AMA shouts "socialized medicine" when the Forand bill is mentioned. It fears the bill would result in the Government running medicine.

The private insurance companies are against the Forand bill, too. The threat of Federal health insurance has spurred them to come up with a rash of new plans for the elderly. To far, however, the coverage offered is modest. There is no chance of the bill becoming law this year. It is too late in the session. But the Forand bill does have a good chance of coming up for a vote in the House in 1960.

Besides such backers as the AFL-CIO and nurses organization, the Forand bill will get a shove in 1960 from the oldsters themselves. The Census Bureau estimates there will be almost 16 million persons 65 years old or more come 1960. That is one-fourth of all the people who voted for President in 1956.

Both political parties, knowing that the aged represent one in every four votes, already are upping plans for wooing oldsters. The Presidential candidates themselves will be forced to take a stand on the Forand bill, a measure of prime interest to this new political force.

Forand himself says he will keep pushing the bill until it is passed. "A lot of the Congressmen tell me the doctors are putting a terrific pressure against the bill," he says. "So tell them there are a lot more people back home than doctors."

Loves Me?

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Lascivious Literature

We are presumed to be a mature people, fairly well educated; at any rate, practically so. The question, however, does arise as to why our young people go in for pornography to the extent that they do.

The Postmaster General, Arthur Summerfield, says that the sale of pornography amounts to half a billion dollars a year and much of it goes through the mails.

Having read this statement, I went forth and dutifully purchased a dozen or so of the magazines which I was told were the worst. I had no difficulty buying them.

Admittedly they must be heady stuff for a young boy, particularly the pictures of half-clad or undressed damsels who exhibited themselves for the cash they get.

I found the advertisements more offensive, many of which seemed to cater to perversions.

The question arises whether the United States mails exist to distribute this kind of stuff. The publishers of some of the magazines define their publications as having to do with art and we can get into an endless controversy as to what is art.

For purposes of the Post Office, it should be sufficient that it is a common carrier, owned and managed by the government and subsidized by the American taxpayer. Therefore it should only engage in such activities as Congress permits.

There is a vast difference in purpose, intent and character of a Reubens nude and a gal who gets maybe $50 to permit a gaze at her nude bosom.

The dirty magazine is bought for dirty reasons. It is not only pornographic magazines that are sold but pornographic pictures and motion pictures. These are circulated mostly among children, or what today is called youth.

It may be unbelievable but it is true that there are even fathers and mothers among the culprits who put on these shows for teen-agers, after which there may be an orgy, followed by the usual tragedies.

Legislation has now been passed to curb this trade. Postmaster General Summerfield, on a television program with Senator Karl Mundt, described the value of the new law:

"... Up until this new legislation was passed last year, we had to prosecute in the place of origin, whether it be in Southern California or in New York, or any other place. We could not prosecute in the areas affected."

"Thanks to this legislation, we can now prosecute in the areas where the trouble is — where this material is distributed. So, as a result of that, if you prosecute in the area where people are directly affected, then you get much better cooperation from the courts."

"So, as a case in point, one of the first prosecutions under this new law resulted in the conviction of a man and his wife to 10 years in jail, and that's the kind of stence that should be meted out to the offenders."

Senator Mundt raised the issue of the privacy of the mails and that is the nub of our difficulties. In order to catch the few swine who wallow in pornographic publications and pictures, it is not likely that the American people will ever consent to censorship of the mails. The Post Office detectives have to find the merchandisers of filth in some manner.

The best and least objectionable way would be for parents to notify the Post Office authorities if they find that their own children are trafficking with them.

A parent cannot squeal on his child, no matter what the child has to say about it. The parent is the sole legal and moral guardian for the child and has the legal and moral right to call in any government agency to assist him in that task. The child's objections are unimportant.

Another way of handling obscene literature is to take it to the local postmaster and to instruct him to send it to the Department of Inspection of the Post Office. The postmaster will do that and a chain of events will be set in motion to catch the dealer in dirt.

It is very difficult to understand why in a high wage country anybody would devote himself to this indecent business. The fact is that there is such a business, just as there is a dope industry, that men and women engage in it, and take money out of it, and even sacrifice their own children to it. There is no telling how the filthy mind reacts.

This set consisted of a picture of the Curtiss "Jenny" airplane and was in 6, 16, and 24 cent denominations. One sheet of the 24-cent stamps was printed with the center (airplane) upside down and is very scarce and valuable.

16 cent (showing the insignia of air service) and a 24 cent (DeHavilland biplane). It is interesting to note that this set was issued primarily for use in the new night flying air mail service between New York and San Francisco.

Three zones were established: New York to Chicago, Chicago to Cheyenne, and Cheyenne to San Francisco.

The rate of postage was eight cents an ounce for each zone. When the rates were changed new stamps were necessary so in 1926-27 three new designs were issued a 10, 15, and 20 cents showing a map of the United States and two mail planes.

The Allen-Scott Report

Rockefeller Supporters

Washington — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is being actively propelled into the presidential arena by a group of congressional supporters.

At a dinner meeting in the Washington home of Rep. Perkins Bass, N.H., these House leaders, with New York State Chairman J. Judson Morhouse taking a leading part in the discussion, agreed on the following plans:

(1) To immediately launch a vigorous "from the ward level up" organizing drive throughout New Hampshire in preparation for entering Rockefeller's name in the March 8 primary, the first of the 1960 presidential tests.

(2) Similarly to start lining up support for Rockefeller among Republican leaders in the South, particularly in Texas, Arkansas and Tennessee "where he has numerous friends and other ties."

(3) Explore the prospects for entering him in the Wisconsin and Oregon presidential primaries in April and May.

In addition to Bass and Morhouse, among those attending this significant gathering were Reps. Stuyvesant Wainwright, N.Y., John Lindsay, N.Y., John Saylor, Pa., and Chester Merrow, N.H.

Rep. Joseph Martin, Mass., former speaker, also was to have been present, but was called out of the city in the afternoon.

However, while not on hand personally, Martin importantly influenced the decision to begin organizing for Rockefeller in the South. Through Representative Wainwright, Martin sent word that he has received offers from a number of Southern GOP leaders to become active for Rockefeller, and urged they be accepted.

That was heartily approved by State Chairman Morhouse.

"We should start work without delay," he advised, "particularly in Texas, Florida, Arkansas and Tennessee where the Governor is well known and has a lot of excellent support, both in the party and among independents."

"What They're Thinking — The plan to enter Rockefeller in New Hampshire's presidential primary was clinched by Representative Merrow with a report that the New York Governor had recently out-pollied Vice President Nixon "by around two to one." Merrow stated he had had this poll made.

"We can get an impressive slate of Rockefeller delegates and can win hands down," he asserted, "if we get busy and organize the entire State from the ward level up. The support is there if we get out and rally it."

Again Morhouse agreed. "The Governor has no objection to his name being placed in this primary," he said. "But that's as far as he will go at this time. It's far too early to determine what he may do about personally campaigning there."

The proposal was firmly rejected by Morhouse. "What about setting up a national Rockefeller for President organization?" he was asked.

"No, not now," was the emphatic answer. "We're not ready for that yet."

There was considerable discussion of the extent to which Nixon's prospects would be enhanced by his Russian tour. All agreed it has definitely worked to his advantage. But Morhouse contended the "favorable effects of Nixon's South American trip were off in a few weeks and these will too."

These things come and go," declared the New York GOP Chairman. "The presidential picture can change greatly in a few months."

No Doubts About It — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson is definitely a presidential candidate so far as his fellow Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, is concerned.

That's what Rayburn told another veteran Democratic leader.

Representative Michael Kirwan, O., chairman of the House Democratic Campaign Committee, and Rayburn were talking about the intensifying presidential scramble in their party, when the former asked, "What about Lyndon? Is he running or not?"

"Lyndon will be a candidate," replied Rayburn flatly, "and make no mistake about it. He'll be in the running when the time comes."

"That's what I thought," said Kirwan, "Just wanted to make sure."

Dear Abby: One of our co-workers is a lovely, intelligent, decent girl but she has started to run around with a married man who works here. Her eyes follow every move he makes. Anyone can tell she is in love with him. She knows he is married and has children but the romance continues just the same. The man has had several such affairs right in this office, but this girl thinks her life is different. How can we stop a respectable, high-principled decent girl from ruining her life over this man?

OFFICE GIRLS

Dear Girl: You are mistaken. No "respectable, high-principled, decent girl" would date a married man in the first place. Girls who take a romantic interest in married men are asking for trouble — and they are rarely disappointed. Your co-worker is destined to learn the hard way.

Dear Abby: I am 14 but I am big for my age so I told this guy I was 17. He picks me up at my girlfriend's house because my parents don't want me going in cars with boys. He is 18 and I hate to tell you this, but I think I am too young to be parking with a boy his age. I feel so guilty and mixed up. Half of me wants to see this fellow again and half of me doesn't. Please tell me what to do.

MIXED UP

Dear Mixed: Use the half of you with the brains in it to convince the other half to stay away from this character. He has none.

Dear Abby: I wonder if I am the only woman who faces such a problem? When my husband and I go out to buy something (or have something repaired) he is never satisfied with the fixed price. He has to bargain. Oftentimes he gets the price down, but I get so embarrassed I don't know what to do. We have been married 26 years and he has been this way always. Is there any hope of changing him or not?

FREDA

Dear Freda: After 26 years, if you think you are going to teach your old dog new tricks — you are barking up the wrong tree. Let him have his fun. No harm done.

Dear Abby: Not one week after the death of my beloved mother I received the notice of her obituary (just as it was printed in our home-town newspaper) encased in plastic. On the other side was a request to either return it or send a dollar. I think commercializing on the death of a loved one is disgraceful. One hesitates to throw anything as sacred as the Lord's Prayer, so I sent the money, but put the thing in a drawer. How would you have handled this?

Residents Of Two Borough Streets Protest Parking Proposal

Urge Scott, Thomas Sts. Be One-Way

A PETITION signed by 80 residents of Scott and Thomas Sts. opposing no parking restrictions on the south side of Scott and the north side of Thomas was presented to Stroudsburg Borough Council last night.

The no parking ban was approved by council at last month's meeting upon recommendation of Burgess Edward A. Doran and Police Chief John B. Tretheway.

As an alternative, the petitioners suggested that Scott be made a one-way street from east to west and Thomas one-way from west to east.

At the request of Tretheway, council deferred action on the petition until next month's meeting. Tretheway said that, in the meantime, he will make a survey to determine whether there are sufficient parking spaces in the area to accommodate residents of the area.

Fire Chief Concur
Tretheway told council that the department had considered and rejected the idea of one-way streets. "We want access," he said, adding that Fire Chief Robert Phillips concurred with his and Doran's recommendations for one-side parking.

Tretheway pointed out that if the streets are made one-way with parking on both sides, one fire truck answering an alarm would block the entire street.

He said snow removal and street cleaning problems were also considered before the no parking restrictions were presented to council.

Phillips told council that when the borough's new water system becomes operative, he has volunteers who will test and chart the borough's fire hydrants to determine which are in need of repair or replacement.

Phillips said several hydrants are leaking and at least one is out of service at the present time.

Spanish Officials Visit Pocono Mountain Resorts

A GROUP OF SPANISH government officials, representing the tourist industry of that country, is spending two days in the Pocono Mountains observing the different types of operations and attractions at area resorts.

Fall Results In Injury To Victor LaBar

VICTOR LaBar, son of Mrs. Charles Christian, 613 Ann St., Stroudsburg, is reported in critical condition in the Newton Hospital, Newton, N. J., after an operation for ruptured appendix. He was taken to the Newton Hospital July 25 after a fall from a ladder which caused a broken wrist and a ruptured blood vessel near the stomach. Later he developed a pain in his side which upon investigation proved to be acute appendicitis. An infection also had set in.

LaBar is a painter and policeman in Andover, N. J., where he lives.

Today's Schedule

They will be taken on a trip to the Delaware Water Gap, Shawnee and Bushkill areas this morning before leaving for New York City.

During their stay here, the group inspected various types of operations such as commercial hotels, resort hotels, honeymoon establishments, family type hotels and motels. They were accompanied by William Altier, president of the Vacation Bureau.

The Spanish officials came to the United States about a month ago and have traveled extensively in all parts of the country.

The 12 men spent Tuesday night at Scranton and arrived in Mount Pocono yesterday morning. They were greeted by Mrs. Marian Meyer, office manager of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and Chamber of Commerce.

After touring a number of resorts and recreation areas in the mountain section, they came to Stroudsburg and later went to the Eastern Poconos where they spent last night.

Two Treated At Dispensary

A ONE-year-old boy, Dale Schwartzwood, East Stroudsburg, was treated in the dispensary of the Monroe County General Hospital after he burned his right hand on a stove.

Nancy Heydt of Cresco suffered a sprain of her left ankle when she turned it. She also was treated in the dispensary.

Wrong Time To Stop At Chief's Home

HOMER Plattenberg, 47, Stroudsburg RD, does things the hard way. He visits policemen while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

The story begins about 9:20 p.m. Monday. Stroudsburg Police Chief John B. Tretheway, off-duty, was relaxing at home.

Plattenberg, for a reason which has not been determined, wanted to see Tretheway, but accidentally got into the kitchen of the other side of the double house in which the police chief lives.

He was ejected and then entered the Tretheway home. Result: an overnight stay in Monroe County Jail. Further result: He was released Tuesday after paying a $20 fine and costs at a hearing before Burgess Edward A. Doran on charges of drunk and disorderly.

Amendments Set For Ballot

HARRISBURG (AP) — John S. Rice, secretary of the Commonwealth, said Monday that three proposed amendments to the Pennsylvania Constitution will be placed on the ballot in the general election Nov. 3.

The voters will be asked about:

Annual instead of bi-annual sessions of the General Assembly.

Increasing the borrowing capacity and debt limits of school districts.

Changing the voting requirements so a person who moves to a new election district 60 days before an election may vote.

Former Local Woman Dies At Age Of 50

MRS. MARTHA E. Kistler, 50, a former resident of Stroudsburg, died yesterday at her home in Packanack Lake, N. J., after a month's illness.

Born in Philadelphia, she was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Darrohn, of Trenton, N. J., and the late George F. Darrohn.

She was a member of Morris-town, N. J., Episcopal Church. Mrs. Kistler graduated from Stroudsburg High School.

Survivors

Surviving besides her mother are her husband, Michael W. Kistler, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Touchstone, Drexel Hill, Pa.; one son, Michael W. Kistler, Jr., at home; two grandchildren; two sisters, Miss Helen Darrohn, Trenton, and Mrs. Roy Widmer, Miami, Fla.; and one brother, Harold Darrohn, Miami.

Graveside funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. Rev. Thomas Shoemith will officiate, and burial will be in Stroudsburg Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are being made by Dunkelberger and Westbrook Funeral Home. There will be no visitation.

Near-Record Number Given Jobs In Local Industries

THE GOOD OVERALL economic condition in the Pocono Labor Market area helped the local employment office run up a near record in job placements during July.

Manager John P. Dougherty said 535 persons were placed in employment, a number surpassed only once before during the 21 years of the history of the office.

Dougherty attributed the large number to good economic conditions here. Though most of the job-seekers were placed in seasonal employment, some were placed in year-round positions with manufacturing business, he stated.

Plant Outlook Good

Manufacturing firm employment opportunities, now at their best in months, should continue through the Fall, Dougherty said, as local plants expand and newer firms brought here by the Pocono Chamber of Commerce continue to grow.

The local employment office received 587 job openings in July, provided 15 employment counseling interviews, and processed for payment 1,473 compensable claims for unemployment compensation. Dougherty said the unemployment compensation figure was the lowest July total here since 1957, just before the past recession began to be felt locally.

On file at both the Stroudsburg office and the Mount Pocono office in the Casino Building are jobs for men and women factory workers with no experience. Dougherty said there is also both short season and year-round jobs in resorts. Opportunities exist for both experienced and unexperienced waiters and waitresses. Some employers will accept applicants under 18 years old. Openings for cooks, bakers, telephone operators and chambermaids are also on file.

Bisbing Funeral Services Held

FUNERAL services for Ira Elwood Bisbing, 77 Valley Road, Hamden, Conn., were held yesterday in the Lanterman Funeral Home. Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiated and burial was in Laurelwood Cemetery.

Treasury Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cash position of the treasury July 31: Balance $3,836,768,841.36. Deposits $3,454,703,244.14.

Pallbearers were John McKosky, Howard Miller, Thomas Bowen, George and Albert Slack and Myron Corby.

New Areas May Join Network

BARRETT Township, Stroud Township and the boroughs of Mount Pocono and Delaware Water Gap may shortly be linked with the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Control Center.

John B. Tretheway, Stroudsburg police chief, told borough council last night that at a meeting of the board which directs center operations, representatives of those communities expressed a desire to join the linkup.

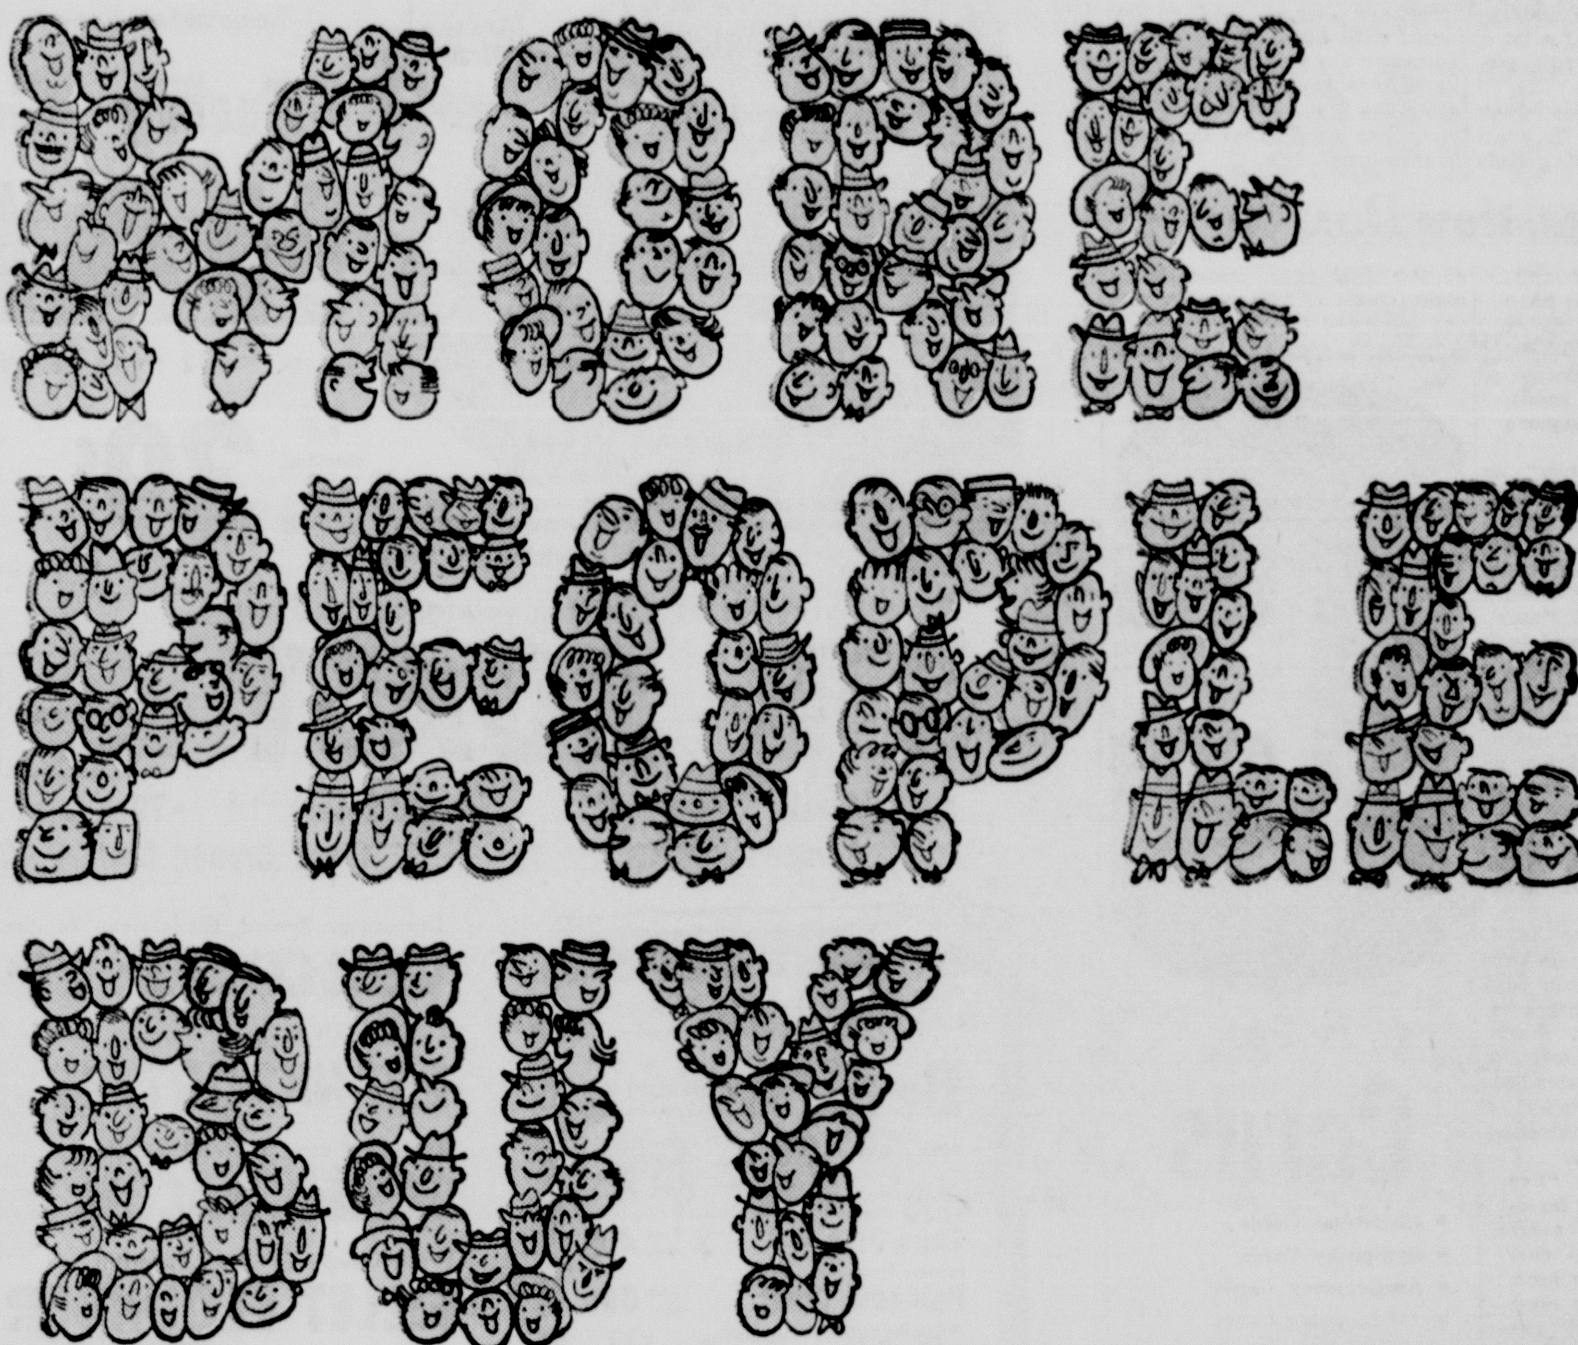

Tretheway said the board is now in the process of setting up a formula for equitable sharing of the costs of linking up with the four political sub-divisions.

Deep Watering Of Lawns Will Grow Better Grass

By George Abraham

FOR years I've been advocating deep watering of lawns, or more at all. Now a national seed company comes out and urges gardeners to ignore the advice "to water deeply." The company urges gardeners to water lightly, and often for "gold-green" greenness.

A golf course superintendent, they tell us, does not water deeply. He water lightly and often, and this accounts for the fact that even in the middle of a severe drought period when so many home gardens and lawns are browned out, golf greens are cool, lush, rich and sparkling with greenness.

Golf greens are watered any time of the day—morning, noon or night, and the keeper does not wait for the grass to lose its color from dryness. He waters whenever necessary before the soil and grass dry out.

Many Handicaps
And there's where the hitch comes. If you can water your lawn daily to prevent the soil from drying out, light and frequent watering will give you a green lawn, because water is present (grass is 80 to 90 per cent water). Grass will grow in any soil that's supplied with moisture.

But, many home gardeners are forced to let the soil dry out deeply in dry spells, due to ban on watering, expense, low amount of water supply in springs or wells, time element involved, etc. Once lawn dries out, it takes a while of a lot of water to reach the full root depth.

Light sprinkling often won't do a bit of good then. The latest thinking on watering boils down to this: If you keep the surface from drying out, a little water will go a long way if stretched out lightly and frequently.

If soil is allowed to dry out seriously between waterings, feeder roots die back. Rewetting only the surface results in shallow feeder rooting.

The old belief that shallow watering causes shallow rooting is still true, if you allow the soil to dry out seriously between waterings. If your soil is kept uniformly moist at all times, then shallow watering will not cause shallow rooting.

Much Evaporates

You cannot expect frequent and light waterings to give you a green carpet in a soil that's dry as a bone. It's estimated that one third of the water applied by a sprinkler is evaporated before it hits the ground. And once moisture hits a hot dry soil, even more is lost due to evaporation.

If you can afford to keep your soil moist, then follow the practice of light and frequent waterings to maintain green grass. By "light," we mean $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch, which is still quite a bit of water, although a long way from the oft-recommended "deep watering."

Built-in sprinklers with timers provide the amount of water and this may be the answer to those who want green lawns all summer long. Meanwhile, I let my lawn dry out and go dormant with summer heat, as it's done for the past 50 years, only to bounce back nice and green after the first good rain. If your lawn has good grass in it, it'll bounce back.

Question Box

K.J. of Stroudsburg: "Some friends of mine have a clump of grasses called 'sea oats' which is ideal for winter decorations. I'm enclosing some seed heads, hoping you can tell me more about them."

The so-called "sea-oats" or "quaking grass" is Briza maxima, a bushy annual plant growing 12 to 15 inches tall and bearing a profusion of oddly formed, flattened, cone-shaped heads, suggesting small flattened hops. These heads nod back and forth on their thread-like stalks.

Last week while studying plants in the Ottawa (Canada) Experimental Gardens I had an opportunity to see much of the quaking grasses which is ready for use as dried material for winter decorations. The grasses can also be used in the fresh state.

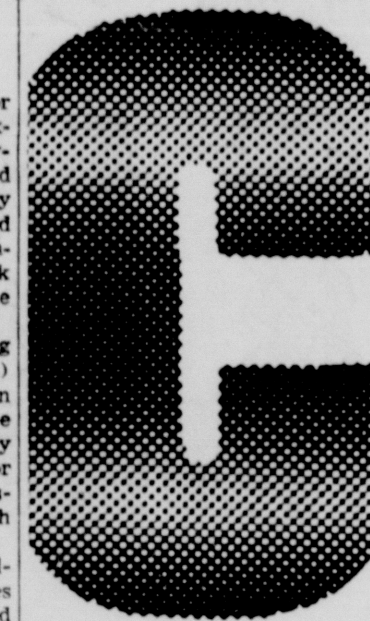

Briza maxima is the handsomest of the quaking grasses and can be started from seed sown in Spring, or Summer, where they are to stay. Home gardeners who want something slightly unusual for winter decorations should buy a packet of seed and grow this ornamental grass in beds or borders.

B.T. of Leighton: "I've got some nice currant bushes which have been sadly neglected. The leaves curl or pucker up and the bush is full of stalks which need pruning. Please tell me what to do?"

Your currants have aphids, the most important trouble with this fruit. Control by spraying with nicotine sulfate or malathion early in summer. Be sure to spray underneath the foliage as well as the top surface. As for pruning, better wait until fall or late winter.

Prune as follows: according to age of the bush: At the end of the first year, leave six or eight canes of the most vigorous one-year old wood.

Airport Aid Until Sept. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency said today it would accept aid requests for airport construction projects until Sept. 1.

Projects sponsors may submit aid applications either for the current fiscal year or for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, or both. The FAA will allocate 63 million dollars for eligible projects in each of the two years.

E. R. Quesada, FAA administrator, said the aid programs for the two years will stress projects required for increased air safety.

SECRETARY of State Christian A. Herter said unwittingly that cold water on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Wednesday just as Khrushchev was putting on the greatest of all the great Communist peace acts.

That line of Khrushchev's about not going to America with a rocket in his pocket is a Madison Ave. dream.

If the world didn't know the International Communist record so well, and that Khrushchev is a dyed-in-the-wool International Communist, it would have been thrilled by those high-sounding words about U.S. - Soviet relations:

Must Restrain Reds.

"There are no territorial disputes between our two countries nor any insoluble contradictions, nor any issues which could prevent the establishment of a climate of confidence and mutual understanding."

Fundamental Western policy is based on the concept that the Soviet International Communist conspiracy must be restrained until it undergoes a change of heart from within. One of the problems has been to maintain an objective frame of mind which will, in the end, be quick to recognize and encourage such a change when it truly begins to appear.

It is Khrushchev's objective now to create uncertainty and wonderment on that very point. For it is written into recommended Communist procedure that there shall be concessions and peace offensives until the capitalist world is sufficiently softened for the kill.

The serpentine approach to Soviet foreign relations has never been more clearly displayed than by the background events during the arrangement of the Khrushchev visit.

When Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived in Moscow he received the sort of correct welcome which individuals extend to a lawyer representing clients who are about to sue them.

When the American fair opened in Moscow the press was critical. But the fair is being praised now.

Before Nixon left Moscow the Khrushchev visit was developing, and the temperature around the vice president actually warmed. Before he passed back through the Iron Curtain his welcome in Poland was tumultuous. Nobody got shot for a shout.

Herter Bursts Bubble

The new peace offensive was rolling along wonderfully, and then Secretary Herter, talking about something entirely different, without reference to other events, said of the failure of the Geneva conference:

"If the Soviet Union is interested in getting the Western Powers out of Berlin. Apparently continued competitive coexistence (one of Khrushchev's great lines) of freedom and communism in Berlin is unwelcome to the Soviet Union."

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus narrowly missed possibly injury Wednesday when a car struck one of his two companions as the three men were crossing a downtown street. Faubus and his escort, State Police Sgt. Floyd Weaver, jumped out of the way.

State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams was hit by the car and knocked about six feet, police said. Adams suffered contusions and abrasions on the hand and leg but was released after emergency treatment at a hospital.

Police Lt. Joe Campbell said the car was driven by W. H. Parks, 55, of Batesville, Ark. He said Parks was charged with failure to yield the right of way to pedestrians.

After medical treatment, Adams left for Perryville, Ark. Faubus and Weaver returned to Little Rock.

GENEVA (AP)—Soon after visiting America next month Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may travel to Peiping for a meeting of leaders of the Communist world that is being called by Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

Ross Common Players Give Fine Performance

By Harlan Stone
AT Ross Common Playhouse this week is a well-acted production of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" which is both funny and touching and at times shot through with flashes of somberness.

The Ross Common Players are to be congratulated on what is probably their second best play of the Summer season. While others may have been its equal, only "Streetcar Named Desire" was superior.

The players are also to be congratulated for showing the initiative it took to stage a play so far removed from the usual Summer stock repertoire.

"Ah, Wilderness!" is O'Neill's only comedy and was one of the last plays he wrote before he suffered tuberculosis and went into seclusion to write a long series of plays on the same family over several generations.

Chief character in the 1906 plot is Nat Miller's son, Richard, who has reached a pessimistic age and reads love poetry by Swinburne and equally shocking literature by Oscar Wilde and George Bernard Shaw. He is surrounded by his parents who are afraid to discipline him sternly, his uncle Sid who is a happy drunkard, and his older brother Arthur's college friends who flirt fatally with tarts.

When he is accused of corrupting his girl friend Muriel's mind with his constant poetic quotations, and she sends him a letter rejecting him, he agrees to a double date with a couple of loose girls in town.

He withstands the final temptation with the tart, but gets into a fight with a bartender. His experience with drunkenness shows him that his Uncle Sid has found no solution. He returns to Muriel, his romantic love, thus finding his proper place in the wilderness of life.

Gary Garth as Richard, plays his most difficult role of the Summer and turns in his best performance. His quick shifts from adolescent mooning to dire poetic prophecies are nicely done. Able to call up quotations to justify both his romantic love and to accuse those around him of sin and degeneration, his words hang like pronouncements of fate over the rest of the cast.

This doesn't make the play sound like much of a comedy. By comedy the literary historians mean an O'Neill play which has situations essentially funnier than any in his other plays—most of which are darkly somber and tragic. The main center of comedy is Uncle Sid. Playing the pleasant imbibler is Wil Albert. He, too, gives his best performance of the season. He is especially good when he comes into dinner drunk and proceeds gently to ridicule the rest of the family. He marches out beating and imaginary Salvation Army drum, saying, "Come and be saved."

It is this call of Uncle Sid and his example which Richard rejects. But Garth and Albert alone don't make this the excellent production it is. They are backed to the hilt by Bill Weston as Nat Miller, Hilda Richards as Essie, his wife, Santo Loquasto as their youngest son Tommy, Jean Evans as Mr. Miller. (Please turn to page eleven)

Three Youths Injured When Cars Collide

THREE boys were injured in an automobile accident Saturday night when the convertible driven by one of them swerved to avoid a car at the intersection of Route 611 and Grange Road, Mount Pocono.

The boys were Bob Bryson, of East Stroudsburg, RD 3, driver of the car, Danny Paul, Appenzel, Stroudsburg, RD 3, and Jim Smiley, Henryville.

According to Mount Pocono Police Chief William Post, the boys were traveling south when the driver of the car in front of them, Milton H. Jones, 1120 West Rockland St., Philadelphia, changed his mind. In swerving to avoid Jones, the boy's car collided with the other and then overturned into a culvert.

The three boys were taken to the Monroe County General Hospital. Paul was admitted. Bryson and Smiley were treated and released. Jones was not injured.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

"As soon as the Ostroms leave, I'm going on a diet!" That was yesterday's most oft-repeated remark. That's because the two-week visit of Merle and Frances Ostrom to their old haunts has set off such a flurry of luncheons, dinners and even brunches as this old town hasn't seen since Christmas.

As a matter of fact as soon as they arrived, Frances was handed a type-written list of the social events which had been scheduled in their honor and two weeks really isn't long enough to get them all in.

Kruschev's visit to the United States couldn't have a tighter schedule or set off more activities. However, Kruschev's visit is a matter of politics, and for the Ostroms it was merely an overflowing of the reservoir of good will they left behind them two years ago—and have added to as local guests made their home in Florida a regular winter port of call.

The Shawnee Women Golfers didn't work off any weight yesterday, either. They'd been scheduled to play at Water Gap Country Club but with the weather refusing to clear they just waited around and had lunch—which was a pleasant way to spend a thoroughly unpleasant day.

Unpleasant, that is, for outdoor activities or brooding around the house but perfect for visiting, eating, and playing cards. However, enough is enough anytime the sun wants to shine, I guess we're ready for it.

And if those New York hair-dressers would like to see what the "natural look" in hair styles looks like, they should see me after a day of trotting around in the rain with no hat.

Fire Co. Aux.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Pocono Township Fire Co. will meet on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the fire hall.

Sweet Corn Season Is Here As Local Corn Hits Market

By Margaret MacLaren
Monroe Co. Home Economist

Corn is the outstanding vegetable buy now. Heavy volume is moving from local farms and other nearby growing sections. Heavy supplies are expected to move through early September. In Pennsylvania not enough rain in June has affected yield so that prices at roadside stands may not get as low as they did last year when we had an exceptionally heavy crop. However, many stores have been featuring corn at 39 cents a dozen on weekend specials.

Corn is freshest the moment it is picked. The sugar in corn turns to starch after picking, and this process is more rapid at higher temperatures. In fact, corn may lose up to half its sugar content during 24 hours of summertime weather.

Hurry fresh corn from the garden or market to the refrigerator or stove. The sooner you use it, the sweeter and juicier the corn. You may leave corn in the husk until just before you cook it. If you prefer to husk corn before you put it in the refrigerator, wrap it in plastic in a moisture-proof container to keep the kernels from drying out.

Hints on Buying

When buying fresh sweet corn look for:

Husks that are fresh, green and snug. Dry yellowed or straw colored husks are an indication of age or damage.

Silk that is dark brown at the end of the husk. This is a sign of well-filled kernels.

Cobs that have even rows and well-filled to the end. Color and size of kernel is dependent on variety.

Kernels that are firm, bright, plump and milky.

To Roast in Husks:

Tear only large outer husks from corn. Turn back inner husks, being careful not to split them. Remove silk and spread corn with softened butter.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pull husks back up over ears and dampen the husks. If needed, tie the tips with string to keep in moisture. Place in shallow baking pan for oven roasting, or over hot coals out of doors. Roast in hot oven (400 F.) or over coals 15-25 minutes depending on hotness of fire.

THE "NATURAL LOOK" applies to the hairstyle created by M. Charles of Maison Antoine. Reminiscent of the 1930's it has a feminine look. Slightly longer than in past seasons, the hair is five inches from the top of the neck to the collar line; 15 inches from the crown down. The hair is worked in a soft, full movement around the face, accentuating cheekbones. The crown is a "bompage" or soft fullness to reshape the mould of the head. Charles advocates that "the face should not disappear in a 'frilly' hair style."

Arlington PTA Plans Festival

Members of the Arlington Heights Parent Teachers Association are already at work planning for their Indian Summer Festival. It will be an evening of food, fun and frolic to be held at the rear of the school on September 11 at 8 p.m. The rain date is Sept. 18.

There will be square dancing with Virge Singer and his Sheldons, furnished through the courtesy of the Stroudsburg-Bangor Local Transcription Fund.

No admission will be charged to the festival but there will be many booths with the proceeds going to the school playground fund.

Mrs. George Keanhold is general chairman. The other committees include: Refreshments, Ray Dunkelberger, Mrs. John Pyle, Mrs. Arville McFarland, Ernest Horn, Bob Smith, Earl Hughes, Ralph Knaut, and Mr. and Mrs. John Baylor; Candy, Mrs. James Thomas, Mrs. Nevin Nonemacher and Mrs. Myrtle Hilliard; Toss Game, Mrs. Jack Raymond, Mrs. Martin Serfass; Profile Sketches, Arthur Widmer; Posters, Mrs. Donald Holmgren, Mrs. Earl Hughes and Mrs. Claude Klinger; Lighting, Arville McFarland; Ponies, Mrs. Donald Reish; Parking cars, James Kenny.

Stanner Reunion At Wooddale

The annual Stanner Reunion will be held at the Wooddale Picnic Grove on Sunday, Aug. 9, starting at noon.

There will be a basket picnic with a program of games for all ages as well as prizes for the various divisions of family members attending.

Barrie London Four Years Old

Barrie Michael London, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack London of Tannersville, celebrated his fourth birthday on Friday, July 31.

On hand to celebrate with him were his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Farman, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Slatin, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Korobow, Ronald Mostkowitz, Steven London and Mr. and Mrs. Jack London.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hosts.

Baldwins Back From Canada

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baldwin of 1079 West Main St., Stroudsburg have returned home after spending a vacation at Gray Rocks Inn on Lake Quimet, St. Jovite, P. Q., Canada.

While there they enjoyed the various activities of the Inn which is located in the picturesque Laurentians.

... for your shirts or Dry Cleaning? Keiper's Laundry and Dry Cleaning can give you the service you require. Sure we can do a better job if we have more time. For prompt pick-up and delivery call Keiper's (HA 1-8920) or bring your parcel to Keiper's ... S. 8th near Main. (Adv.)

THIS IS A VERY STRAIGHT hair fashion designed by Enzo de Perugia of New York. A very studied attempt in hair styling it requires a great deal of hairstyling technique. The style looks straight on top, yet the body and support underneath. Elephantine size rollers are used for the top layer of hair to achieve a smooth line. Hair is drawn straight down to cover the ears. For more formal wear, the hair is puffed out and brushed up high in the back. It is executed on medium length hair that is long at the neckline and tucked up.

Jolly Janes Beat Heat At Meeting

Neola — The sun was shining and the temperature soared, but the Jolly Janes 4-H club didn't mind a bit. The girls had met for a picnic and swimming party at Voige's pool.

Each girl brought a friend and the girls enjoyed games as well as swimming. Judy Veely led the games and the picnic committee was composed of Elva Schuler, chairman, Barbara Kjar and Karla Walter.

The 4-H girls and friends who attended were: Susan Stulgaitus and Bunney Werkheiser; Karla Walter and Denise Felker; Elva Schuler and Cathy Martin; Kathy Kjar and Pat Welsh; Barbara Kjar and Judy Martin; Carol Kjar and Carol Welsh; Judy Veely and Susan Thomas; Marjorie Walter and Sharon Edinger; Dianne Shupp and Barbara Keiser; Georgianna Smith and Sandra Hess.

Mrs. Fred Kjar and Mrs. Charles Leida, club leaders, supervised the club's activities.

Official Visits G. D. Eastern Star

Newfoundland — Mrs. Mathilda Drake, district deputy from Milford, paid her annual official visitation to the Greene-Dreher Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, held at the Rebekah Hall with Mrs. Verna Simons, worthy matron, presiding.

Mrs. Drake spoke briefly on the aims and purpose of the OES, and the local chapter exemplified the works.

There were 40 members and 40 visitors on hand for the meeting at which a discussion of the chapter's participation in the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair was set for August 27. Committee members will be named at that time. The chapter will assist Community Grange 2056 in serving the Saturday noon and evening dinners.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session by Doris Bartleson, Connie Edwards, Stella Christman, Esther Simons, Lydia Frey, Elsie Madden, Edith Simons, Anne Smith, Ethel Akers, Lillian Akers and Minnie Cross.

ENRICO CARUSO'S hair fashion theme has an "acorn-like" appearance. The crown is high with asymmetrical face-cling waves. The hair is lifted to give it a graceful long-necked look. This all starts with a teased top knot and the remainder is brushed into place close to the head. All of these styles were shown at the hairstyling show for the fashion press in New York City by the Clair Institute of Haircoloring. They predict an all-blond hair fashion for Fall and Winter.

All Successful Women Emphasize Femininity

By Anne Heywood

There is a type of angry female from whom I hear now and then and who, like most angry people, is her own worst enemy.

Here is a letter from one of these: "I am every bit as well qualified for the job I'm going after as any man is, but the employers insist on wanting a man for the job. It isn't fair!"

Answers Ads

"I've been answering the ads in the 'Help Wanted, Male' section of my paper because that's where the good jobs in my field are advertised. I sign my name with just the initials for the first and middle name, so they'll think it's a man.

"But—can you believe it?—when they get in touch with me and learn I'm a woman they won't even have me come in for an interview!"

Deceived Them

Yes, I can believe it. After all, when they learn that she has deceived them, they quite naturally drop her like a hot potato. Moreover, it is, as the children say, a free country and the employer who prefers to hire a man for a specific job has a perfect right to do so.

It may not be the blind prejudice she assumes. There may be a perfectly good reason why a man is preferable to a woman for the specific job.

But more than all this, I believe that a woman in business should not deny her femininity, but instead should accentuate it. If you try to be just as good as a man, don't try to be like a man. It is your womanliness that you should emphasize.

August 8 Bride-To-Be Is Honored

White ribbon streamers and wedding bells formed a canopy over the table of shower gifts at the shower given in honor of Shirley Bitterman at the home of Mrs. Cora Smith on Friday evening, July 31.

Shirley is to become the bride of Larry Scharf of Scotrun on August 8 at the Scotrun Lutheran Church.

Guests attending were members of the Women's Guild of the Reformed Church of Tannersville and included Emma and Laura Niering, Mrs. Krauss, Catherine Bitterman, Ethel Kresge, Margaret Tallada, Lillian Hay, Edith Gurr, Blanche Starner, Lucy, Lorraine and Lorrie Jean Anglemeyer, the honored guest and the hostess Cora Smith.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were: Betty Price, Bettina Niering, Joanne Gurr, Evelyn Kresge, Graham Bryson, Annabelle Peechatka, Naomi Learn, Amita Learn, and Helen and Jane Starner.

Plans for the bi-annual banquet were discussed by the unit, and the event was set for September 15 at the Horn of Plenty Restaurant, Route 507, Greentown, at 6:30 p.m.

The next meeting of the past worthy matrons will be held on August 18 at the home of Mrs. Marion Gilpin, South Sterling, at 7 p.m.

Glady's Sebring was a visitor at the meeting which was attended by these members: Stella Gilpin, Mildred Flower, Marion Gilpin, Edna Malsom, Gertrude Pellett, Lillian Carey, Lou Strobel, Elva Wolfjen, Sybil Anness, Made Howe, Ethel Akers and Mildred Lanuti.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store" A.B. Wyckoff STROUDSBURG, PA.

A number of years ago (I would say "several"—but who can tell, when time flies so rapidly?) a book was published that immediately touched the heart of the reading public. It was a love story . . . a story that glowed with warmth, affection, and respect in every line. It was, in a way, a tragedy . . . for it began with the death of the beloved, and told his story in reminiscence. Yet, for all of this, it was so richly inspiring one closed the cover, after the last page, with a feeling of having gained a great deal. There was no dark hangover . . . no bitter after-taste. The book was Catherine Marshall's "A Man Called Peter."

This was one book almost everyone desired for the family library. It was simply written . . . and its story was one that will never grow old or outdated. Whatever the calendar year may be, there will always be college girls who will read, with a glow of understanding, about Catherine, who fell in love with a dashing young minister, who had come from a foreign land to follow the call of his profession—even to the halls of the mighty, where he became chaplain of the U.S. Senate. Whatever the date on the desk pad, there will always be widows who courageously face the future, seemingly alone . . . yet sharing with Catherine Marshall the bonds of sorrow, too deep for expression, that follow the footsteps of bereavement.

We sold countless copies of "A Man Called Peter" here at Wyckoff's. There was a fresh demand when the great book later became an equally fine motion picture. Since then Catherine Marshall has written other books . . . "The Prayers of Peter Marshall . . . To Live Again" . . . books of inspiration for children . . . and most recently "The First Easter." But the demand for "Peter" continues, seemingly without end. This is true no doubt because therein is a simply told message that is universally needed and has ageless appeal.

Because everyone should meet Peter Marshall, and because—thanks to Catherine Marshall—such a meeting is still a possibility, I am happy to announce that this Sunday evening, August 9th, he will be brought to the Mountainhome Methodist Church by Christine Coleman, the noted dramatist, who has won recognition as a "one woman theatre." Miss Coleman's personality portraits have established for her an enviable reputation as an interpreter of mannerisms and moods, and she has delighted all types of audiences, appearing in schools, colleges, churches, and before civic and fraternal organizations. A college director of speech and drama, Miss Coleman's is an appealing personality with keen perception and a rich flair for character delineation.

Owners May Train Dogs On Wild Game

THE eight-month period during which dogs may be trained on wild game began August 1. Owners and handlers of bird dogs and rabbit hounds welcome the opportunity to condition their experienced hunters and to train young dogs in preparation for the small game season "opener" Oct. 31.

Persons who work dogs on game are advised of the following provisions of the Game Law: When accompanied by and under the control of their trainer or handler dogs may be trained upon any wild game in the Commonwealth except elk, deer, bears or wild turkeys during the prescribed training period.

The term "under control" is defined in the Law as "within call except when actually on the trail or track of legal game."

Other Rules

Other regulations governing such training are: 1. No injury may be inflicted on game birds or animals. 2. Carrying a shotgun or rifle while dog training is prohibited. 3. Raccoon dogs may be trained from sunrise to midnight; other dogs from sunrise to 9 p.m., both according to Eastern Standard Time. 4. Except on public lands, Sunday training is legal on private property only after the owner's consent has been obtained. A hunting license is not required of persons training dogs on game.

It is not permissible to train dogs on game birds or animals during April, May, June and July, the months during which most of the young of wildlife are produced and the eggs, young and mothers need all the protection possible.

'Moon Is Blue' Starts Week's Run At Bushkill

By David Ottaway

HUGH Herbert must have had an extraordinary imagination to come up with a character like Patty O'Neill. One can honestly say she is unique; there could be no other Patty O'Neill. The Bushkill Playhouse this week presents "The Moon Is Blue," a creation of Hugh Herbert which, in the form of a movie, brought a great deal of discussion because of its free discussion of sex.

It is the story of a young, wholesome, all-American type girl who decides to have herself picked up and to lure her prey to the top of the Empire State Building for a meeting ground.

Patty is completely uninhibited in her attack upon Don Gresham and in a presentation of herself. She is so startlingly frank that Don is immediately attracted to her, at first from curiosity and then from love of her free spirit.

Julie Craig has done a marvelous portrayal of Patty. She is vivacious, fresh and boisterous and seems very much at home in the role. Her innocent face behind an embarrassing question, her youthful bounce and vitality and her natural ease in the part make for a convincing characterization of an unusual girl.

The progression of the romance leads to the apartment of Don Gresham after he has promised Patty that he will not make any passes at her.

In the usual pattern of stage romance there is a complication and a triangle. Don's neighbor is a middle aged, divorced, playboy who happens to drop in at the wrong moment. His daughter has recently broken off with Don after spending a night at his apartment. The playboy tries to play the part of a concerned father but spends most of his time attempting to steal Patty away from Don.

There are innumerable embarrassing situations which lead first Don and then the father, David Slater, to question the sincerity of Patty's wholesomeness and true intentions. The play is totally constructed around a series of situations.

The play moves fast in a light, continuously humorous vein. Patty proves her character to the two men despite the father's ill advice to her. The usual ending prevails; youth, love and marriage win out.

Jack Randall is cast as Don Gresham the young, innocent bachelor who is continually misinterpreted and then misinterpreting. As a distraught stag blustering around the stage in fear of losing his mate he is quite effective.

In the first scene atop the Empire State Building where he first meets Patty O'Neill, the part is a little underplayed. He doesn't seem quite startled enough by the extraordinary character of Patty. He is perhaps a little too casual at this point.

Yet he is naturally fit for this type of character and for the most part he does justice to it.

The playboy-father is William F. Miller who is consistently a pleasure to watch in a role he is quite accustomed to. It is the feigning immoralist and unprincipled character who beneath it all is a lovable man that Mr. Miller has portrayed several times before this season.

His facial expressions and gestures are nearly always natural and spontaneous in effect.

Father of Patty O'Neill is played by Sid Goreslick whose one act is to come storming in, slug Don Gresham in the eye, and haul off his daughter as a dutiful Irish father ought. It is a small part but done well.

Designer Darwin Payne continues to live up to his standards of craftsmanship. He has created an effective setting for a top to the Empire State Building and given a sense of height and of a skyscraper even though it is at the expense of reality.

It's light entertainment, enjoyable enough, and worth seeing for the acting.

Edison Mansion

Given To U.S.

WEST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—The son of the late inventor Thomas A. Edison handed over Monday the front door key of his father's mansion to the National Park Service. The ornate Victorian home thus became a national monument.

"I hope in the years ahead the key will serve as a symbol unlocking from within the hearts of visitors to full pride in America's heritage and confidence in her future," said former New Jersey Gov. Charles Edison.

Fine Acting Marks Play

The barroom scene in which Richard withstands the advances of the tart is one of the most effective because of the particularly high level of acting by all concerned. Miss Gibson, Turnall and Garth are joined here by L. W. Ingram as a salesman who takes the tart away from the boy.

Although some of the words have been cut from the play at Rost Common this week, there are still plenty there to make the Miller family hold our attention.

OFF THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

DATELINE—Maybe sometime around Dec. 25, possibly in the year of 1980 or 1990 a headline (it won't be a banner because at this time it won't be worth it) may read where former heavyweight champion of the world Ingemar Johansson won the title back in 1959 via a tank job by then king of the heavies Floyd Patterson.

While the above is longer than any space designated for headline purposes it seems to point out what is going behind the scenes these days in the boxing game. In fact it is quite baffling if one is to believe all what is said by fight promoter Rosensohn and actual promoter Cus D'Amato.

We will never be able to fathom D'Amato's words when he announced to the world via radio that the next fight between the Swede and Patterson will draw the biggest gate of all and that he couldn't see a site big enough to hold the expected throngs.

We can see those words coming from a pilot of a boxer who had just rallied from defeat and won by a kayo. However, we can't feel indebted to D'Amato's "kind" message especially when his fighter (Patterson) is huddled in a corner after going to the floor seven times and eventually being stopped.

Certainly D'Amato could have shown more emotion for his beloved chattel at this time than to excitedly tell the world the next time it will be better. Better for whom. Any fool who saw the fight and watched Patterson hit the canvas as many times as he did couldn't say it would be a great match again. Unless he would like Floyd to go to the slaughter-pit again.

These things have gone through our mind time and again since we heard the battle on radio, listened disgustingly to D'Amato's fight "post-mortem" and later saw it on TV movie screens.

Ever since the bout was linked we wondered about the outcome although like hundreds of other writers we had to go along with Patterson. D'Amato's trail of misfits for Patterson since he became champ didn't help our "wrong" thinking either.

After all, the likes of Hurricane Jackson, Brian London, Shoot 'N Cut Roy Harris were hardly a good basis to praise Patterson. However, the records say he beat these second-raters and we have to go by that.

But when Johansson was named the new hope for the heavyweight championship our hands dug into the Olympic history books and found he was a loser a couple of times, once for refusing to battle a now deceased American in the final. (He was disqualified for not fighting).

Funny but we can't visualize a man seven years before failing to fight and then becoming a tiger later on. We have been told fighting is a natural born instinct, an impulse which shoots out the best in you at all times. Some boxers have this, other don't. And you can notice by their exhibitions the ones who have class and those who are considered also-rans.

Now Johansson is a good-looking man with a ready smile. Sort of a person who grows on you. His affable and practically loose way of handling his own business made good copy for the sports world. But still there were not enough nice words to make the Patterson-Johansson fiasco a money maker for the promoter.

Now we get back to the point who was promoter. When things got going it was supposed to be Rosensohn pulling the strings. After the fight was held an attorney by the name of Vellela was reported to have two-thirds of Rosensohn Enterprises. If this was true then they could have taken the Rosensohn out of Enterprises.

Tuesday a story revealed that Rosensohn had to sign away more loot to a gent by the name of Charley Black, reputedly to be a very good friend of D'Amato's. If this was again the case, brother Rosensohn didn't even hold the "E" in Enterprises.

All things considered this heavyweight championship bout had more angles than barker at a sideshow. However, there is no doubt in our minds that D'Amato, that great crusader who blew into the boxing world to clean up the sport, conducted the whole show just like the past overtures of Patterson.

Right now you can wager on Johansson and get all the bets you want. The bookies in the Gotham and elsewhere have established Floyd the favorite if and when the two meet again. Why?

We have never heard or known a bookie to throw his money away on a sports event. To be sure he has been taken but nine times out of ten he is on the winner's side.

Why then Patterson after the dethroned king was "belated out" in such fashion? They had Patterson in the first bout.

Didn't it run through to form? Believe me it is a mystifying situation today between D'Amato, Rosensohn, two guys not from Harrison, and Johansson. Possibly it will clear up around Dec. 25 of 1980 or 1990, especially since it will be the time of the year the Yuletide spirit will be embedded in everyone.

British Net Ladies Set For Defense

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The British Wightman Cup tennis team reached the scene of the 1959 matches Wednesday breathing defiance and claiming, "It took us 27 years to win the cup and America won't get it back this year."

The British girls—Four players and a captain—arrived in suburban Sewickley after a long Atlantic hop and bouncing plane rides between New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Air Sickness

"Christine Truman and Angela Mortimer went to the very edge of sickness," said Bea Walters, nonplaying captain. "We thought they had had it but they were saved. Ann Haydon and Shirley Bloomer Brasher thrived on the bounces."

"But no one in America should get the idea the spot of sickness means Britain will lose. The matches aren't until Aug. 15 and 16 and we will be ready and we will win."

Miss Truman, a six-foot, 150-pounder from the Essex suburbs of London, whipped Althea Gibson last year in the key singles match to give Britain her first Wightman Cup victory since 1950.

Left Off

Miss Gibson was left off the American team this year by Captain Margaret Osborn duPont because the tall Harlem girl has been in semiretirement.

The American team of Sally Moore, Bakersfield, Calif.; Janet Hoppes, Seattle; Jean Arth, St. Paul; Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif.; and Beverly Baker Flietz, Long Beach, Calif., is not expected at the Edgewood club in Sewickley until next week.

Face Slump 'Only Human'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Little Elroy Face, whose relief record was inhuman the first half of the season said Wednesday he slumped along with the Pittsburgh team "because I'm human, just like all pitchers."

Face insisted he's been pitching the last two weeks exactly as he has all season, but bloop hits and infield rollers were hurting him.

"The whole team was in a slump and I went with them," Face said. "But last night we busted out of it by beating the Cardinals 7-3."

"I'm going to be all right," asserted the 31-year-old right-hander. "I'll be pitching until they tear off my uniform."

In his last 10 1-3 innings, Face was rapped for nine earned runs and 14 hits. He didn't lose any, and saved only one game.

Face still has the best pitching record in the majors this season, with a 14-0 won-lost mark and a stingy 1.96 earned run average.

In his first 58 2-3 innings, Elroy was touched for just six earned runs, giving him an unbelievable 0.92 earned run mark at that point. He has won 19 straight over the past two seasons.

"And in that time I saved 36 other games," he said. "A save is just as good as a victory to me at contract time." Face's salary this year is about $25,000.

Accept Net Bids

LONDON (AP)—British players Gerald Oakley and Pat Ward Wednesday accepted invitations to compete in the Russian Lawn Tennis Championships starting in Moscow Aug. 21. They will be the first British players to compete there.

Win Crowns In Badminton Tournaments

JOHNNY Muller, Doug Pugh and Tricia Everitt captured singles titles and the combinations of Bobby Davis-Skip Kintz, David Pierson-Dave Torzillo and Miss Everitt-Judy Ricardo won doubles championships in the Badminton Tournament sponsored by the Stroudsburg playground this past week.

The tournament was under the supervision of staff instructor George Metropoulos.

Muller claimed the crown in the 12 year and under boys class by defeating Bobby Davies. Pugh won the title in the 14 and under boys group by topping Harold Davies, while Miss Everitt downed Donna Grover to gain the girls diadem in the 16 and under division.

Double Victors

The Bobby Davis and Skip Kintz duo vanquished Johnny DeVivo and Frank Miller to come in first in the boys 12 and under class. Dave Pierson and Dave Torzillo beat out Johnny DeVivo and Truman Burnett for the 14 and under championship.

Miss Everitt joined with Judy Ricardo to gain the girls 16 and under doubles crown by besting Judy Rhodes and Donna Grover. Assisting in the supervision of the tournament was Bob Wert.

The next tournament sponsored by the playground will be a ping pong classic. This will get under way today, starting at 10 a. m.

Metropoulos said last night that approximately 50 entries will compete for championships in boys and girls different-age classes.

Trophies will be awarded the badminton victors today at the Stroudsburg playground office at 3 p. m.

Wall Among Starry Cast In Golf Open

CLEVELAND (AP)—Practically all the top touring talent took off Thursday in the $25,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament over the Seneca golf course's 6,366 yards of rolling, tree-infested terrain.

Nineteen of the year's top 20 money winners are in the field of 142 professionals and 12 amateurs. Only absentee is Ken Venturi, who returned home to await an addition to his family.

In addition to the $3,500 top prize in the four-day, 72-hole medal play event, five former winners have a chance to pick up a bonus by leading the field again. Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., a two-time victor, could get a $10,000 extra payment. One-time winners Doug Dow, Finnerfester, Paul Harney and Cary Middlecott could win an extra $5,000.

Winners of all the year's big tournaments are on hand. One is Art Wall Jr., the Masters winner, who has picked up $46,000 in purses to lead the list this year. Others are Open Champion Bill Casper Jr., PGA winner Bob Rosburg, Ford, the Canadian champion, and big Mike Souchak, the Western Open king.

Bosox Scalp A's, 17-6

BOSTON (AP)—Boston battered Kansas City pitching for a 17-6 triumph Wednesday night as sprinter Gary Geiger drove home six runs and Frank Malone five.

Geiger, a throw-in on the deal which brought Vic Wertz from Cleveland, hammered a three-run homer, his seventh, a run-producing triple and a two-run double. In addition, he reached base on an error, sacrificed and scored three times.

Third baseman Malone belted his 16th and 17th homers plus a double and single to hike his runs-batted-in figure to 71.

The Red Sox tied their season's best run output 17-6 at Detroit May 6 while teeing off on four Athletics' hurlers for 18 hits.

Malzone put the Sox in command with a two-run homer off rookie loser Howard Reed in the third inning. Boston trailed 5-4 and Geiger was on base when Malone powered a 2-0 pitch high into the left field screen.

Ike Delock, second of three Boston pitchers, was the winner. Rookie second baseman Pumpie Green singled twice, walked and scored three times.

Inge-Floyd Setto Draws 2 Probes

NEW YORK (AP)—As the district attorney's probe of the mystifying mess surrounding the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight promotion went into high gear Wednesday, the New York State Athletic Commission ordered its own examination of the behind-the-scenes activities.

Maj. Gen. Melvin Knutewich, commission chairman, told commission attorney James P. Fuscus to investigate all aspects of the promotion, including the activities of Rosensohn Enterprises and Floyd Patterson Enterprises, two corporations involved.

Meanwhile, Johansson, who stopped Patterson in the third round of their June 26 fight to win the championship, said he will come here from Sweden next week with his advisor, Edwin Ahlquist, "to see what this mess is all about."

Two Subpoenaed

Two of the principals involved, Vincent Vellela and Bill Rosensohn, appeared separately Wednesday at the district attorney's office in answer to subpoenas.

Vellela, majority stockholder in Rosensohn Enterprises, told newsman Rosensohn "quit because he can't take orders. He's just a boy trying to do a man's job. He's made some wild statements that can't be documented. Our books are being audited."

Rosensohn was asked if "the underworld boys are in the picture," and answered that he didn't know.

He said he signed away his rights in the promotion because he felt he had to, but gave a firm "no comment" when asked if he had been coerced.

Asked concerning the whereabouts of the proceeds of the June bout, Rosensohn said: "Ask Vellela. He's got the books and if he's got the books he's got the money."

Purse Released

In Göteborg, Sweden, Ahlquist signed with relief when he learned a New York court had ordered the release of Johansson's purse for the June fight. The purse was attached by heavyweight Eddie Machen after he and the Chicago Stadium Corp. filed a $1,229,375 damage suit against Johansson, Patterson and others.

Phils Hand Bruins 7th Straight Loss

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies scored twice in the ninth inning to break a 4-4 tie and handed the Chicago Cubs their seventh straight loss 6-4 Wednesday.

Bill Henry, fourth Chicago pitcher, was the victim of the Phillies' four hits in the last inning. Ed Bouchee singled for the first run and Harry Anderson the second.

Thus Gene Conley, with ninth inning help from lefty Taylor Phillips, picked up his 10th win. He has lost seven.

The loss was Henry's fifth in 11 decisions.

Shortstop Joe Koppe singled on starter Glen Hobbie's first pitch to set the stage for the Phillies' three-run first. Richie Ashburn walked, and Koppe took third after Bouchee flied out.

Koppe scored on a wild pitch and Wally Post singled Ashburn across. Gene Frense was hit on the left hand and left the game after Harry Anderson had fanned. Hobbie exited, and George Anderson greeted replacement Johnny Buzhardt with a single to score Post.

Ashburn doubled with two out in the second, and got around with the Phillies' fourth run on singles by Bouchee and Post.

Althea Accepts Pan-Am Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—Althea Gibson, former Wimbledon and current U.S. queen, ended a year's retirement Wednesday by accepting an invitation to play for the U.S. women's tennis team in the Pan-American Games at Chicago, Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

After winning the British and American titles a year ago, Miss Gibson said she was withdrawing from tennis for a year to concentrate on a singing career. Because of inactivity, she was not named to the U.S. Wightman Cup team which plays the British next week.

Parents Day Slated For S-Burg LL

Stroudsburg Little League will observe Parents Night today at the LL stadium starting at 5:45 p.m.

All parents of boys playing in the six-team circuit have been invited to attend. Also other interested persons are welcome, league president Jack Mullins said last night.

Three, two-inning games will be played with the first and second place nines facing each other, plus the third and fourth, and fifth and sixth teams.

Members of the league are Veterans of Foreign Wars, Wyckoff-Sears, Monroe Security-Trust Bank, Stout Glass, First National Bank and Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Following the games entertainment and special games will be provided by the Stroudsburg Little League's Ladies Auxiliary.

Two Upsets In Women's Tennis Play

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Two more upsets ousted third-seeded Margaret Varner and fourth-seeded Donna Floyd Wednesday in the third round of the women's division of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Nancy Richey, 17, San Angelo, Tex., surprised Miss Varner, Wilmington, Del., 7-5, 5-7, 6-4, and Belmar Gunderson, Chambersburg, Pa., killed Miss Floyd, Arlington, Va., 6-4, 0-6, 6-4, on rain-dampened courts.

The morning downpour forced postponement of the men's third round matches to Thursday and curtailed the women's schedule.

Sally Moore, the top-seeded U.S. Wightman Cupper from Bakersfield, Calif., and the two South African beauties, Sandra Reynolds and Renee Schuurman, advanced easily.

Miss Moore defeated Carol Ann Prosen, Orlando, Fla., 6-1, 6-4. Miss Reynolds, second-seeded foreigner, triumphed over Barbara Benigni, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-4, and Miss Schuurman, third-seeded, routed Karen Hantze, San Diego, Calif., 6-2, 6-2.

Education First

DETROIT (AP)—"If a young fellow can get the big bonus, he should take it," advises outfielder Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers. "He can play ball, but he should make sure he finishes his education so he is prepared if he doesn't make the big league grade."

Rough Stuff, Fisticuffs Liven Up Eagle Workouts

HERSHEY, Pa.—Enlivened by a few fisticuffs as tempers boiled, the Philadelphia Eagles resumed the rough stuff here Tuesday with a rambunctious 60-minute scrimmage that at times sparkled with mid-season precision and other times was fraught with frustrations.

Stocks Race At Nazareth Track Today

NAZARETH—The stock cars will skid and scamper at the half-mile track in the Nazareth, Pa., Fairgrounds this coming Thursday night, 8:30 p.m., when the top drivers from New Jersey and Pennsylvania return for stiff competition.

All eyes will be on the six-corner duel that has been developing between the two-state champions. There is a great rivalry between Luther Muffley and Bupsie Arner, both of Lehigh; Mario and Aldo Andretti, both of Nazareth; Herb Frenchko, Easton, and George Dilworth, North Wales.

Then, too, there are the Jersey sensations—Bill Butler, Milford; Wheels Robinson, Lebanon, and Don Hughes, Flemington—all wide-awake speedy skippers who give the Keystone State entrants a sudden chill on the turns and along the straightaways.

The Thursday night show will be a treat for the adults with a $1 admission, and one child (15 years old and under), will be admitted free with each adult.

The Muffley driving, No. 79, has been rated as the hottest in the last month. The Lehigh-ton filer has consistently started in the rear of the field and has worked his way through the cluttered field of cars to gain first place and the checkered flag.

Of course, a townsman, Arner, No. 18, is the boy who earlier in the year was the rage of the fans. Not to be dismissed lightly are the Italian whizzes—Mario and Aldo Andretti—who have put the Nazareth Colony on its toes with exciting driving, and sometimes with flips and rollovers.

The races this week will find the boys going at it hot and heavy in four qualifying races and then letting down their hair in the 20-lap feature event.

Yanks Beat 'Hex' Mossi Via Shantz

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz fired a five-hit shutout and Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer Wednesday as the New York Yankees broke through Don Mossi's season-long spell for a 3-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The Yankees swapped places in the AL standings with the Tigers, who had taken fifth place Tuesday night with a 4-3 triumph in the opener of the three-game series.

Mantle's homer, his 22nd and second in two days, followed Gil McDougald's lead-off triple in the eighth inning and cushioned Shantz' sixth victory in nine decisions. Before that, the Yankees had managed only an unearned run in the fourth off Mossi, who had stopped New York with five complete game victories this season.

Tigers Threaten
The Tigers threatened in the ninth, loading the bases after two out on Gus Zernial's bloop double to center, a single by Frank Bolling, and a walk to pinch-hitter Harvey Kuenn, making his first appearance since July 27. Shantz settled down to retire pinch-hitter Ted Lepio on an infield grounder, ending the game.

Rookie Knuckler Misses Catcher

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Edie Gene Fisher, 23-year-old rookie knuckler with the San Francisco Giants, misses his former catcher, Al Stiegitz.

They formed the 1958 battery at Corpus Christi and this year at Phoenix.

Florida Loop Will Expand

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Winter Baseball League will expand to a six-team circuit this year, the Tampa Times said Wednesday. The Times listed as probable new members the Baltimore Orioles, Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Phillies. Either the New York Yankees or St. Louis Cardinals will drop out the story said. The Milwaukee Braves and Kansas City A's will be back again. The league operates with limited service and rookie players.

Am-driver Killer
MONZA, Italy (AP)—British amateur driver Philip Green, 21, was killed Wednesday at the Monza Autodrome when his MG touring car overturned and crashed on top of him. Green was driving on the high-speed track alone. When there are no races the track is available for private tests.

Late Tuesday Tilts

Spahn Posts 261st Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crafty Warren Spahn's 3-hitter gave Milwaukee a 6-1 victory over San Francisco late Tuesday night and boosted the Braves into the lead in a tight National League race. Five Giant errors helped the Braves take a one percentage point lead. The Los Angeles Dodgers lost 4-1 to Cincinnati and dropped to third, behind the Giants.

Spahn, 38, gave up a first-inning single to rookie Willie McCovey and a walk to Willie Mays leading off the fourth. Not another Giant reached base until Jim Hegan's single with two out in the eighth.

The triumph was the south-paw's 261st victory in a major league career dating back to 1942. He's 15-10 this season, four of those victories complete games over the Giants.

Dodgers Lose

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vada Pinson hit a two-run homer and lefty Joe Nuxhall allowed but three hits Tuesday night as Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 4-1.

The Redlegs got to right-hander Stan Williams for three runs in the third. Roy McMillan walked and hustled to third when Nuxhall lined a double off the left field screen. McMillan trotted home on Johnny Temple's long sacrifice fly to center.

Pinson then followed with his home run, a long drive over the left field screen. It was the 15th round tripper this season for the fleet center fielder.

Jerry Lynch also homered for the Redlegs in the eighth inning. He hit a fast ball by reliever Roger Craig high over the 333-foot right field barrier. It was his 14th of the season.

Monterrey Out Of LL Runoffs

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Monterrey, Mexico, which won the Little League World Series the last two years, has been dropped from this year's tournament because of rules violations, a league spokesman said Wednesday. Robert Strutt said the three leagues in Monterrey ignored a rule requiring all players to reside within the boundaries which the league itself prescribes.

Senators End Losing Skein At 18; Divide With Tribe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Victory-starved Washington ended an 18-game losing streak Wednesday night, crushing Cleveland 9-0 in the second game of a doubleheader. The Indians won the opener 7-3.

Ike May Miss Pan-Am Games

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's scheduled visit to Western Europe late this month may cause him to call off a trip to open the Pan American Games in Chicago.

The games are to open Aug. 27, and the White House announced several weeks ago that President Eisenhower would attend. It is expected that the trip to Europe will be scheduled the week of Aug. 24 which would force cancellation of the plans for Chicago.

Haddix Alters Style

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Harvey Haddix, who pitched 12 perfect innings for the Pirates before losing 1-0 in the 13th to Milwaukee in May, says he is pitching his natural way. "After leaving St. Louis, I changed my style," says Haddix, "but when I joined Pittsburgh they told me to pitch my natural way." Haddix was with Cincinnati last season.

Richie Beats Willie

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Richie Ashburn of the Phillies says he appreciates his 1958 batting title more than the one he won in 1955. "I had no competition the first time," says the fleet outfielder, "but last year I had a tough fight to beat out Willie Mays."

Cards Blank Pirates, 3-0

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rookie Ernie Broglio of the St. Louis Cardinals pitched his third shut-out of the season Wednesday night, scattering four Pittsburgh hits for a 3-0 victory.

Broglio, a right-hander, lifted his record to 6-7. Permitting just two Pirates to reach third base, Broglio struck out six and walked one.

The Cardinals scored their first run in the second inning off Bob Friend, now 4-14. The Redbirds added two unearned runs in the eighth against Fred Green, a rookie lefty.

Singles by Joe Cunningham and Wally Shannon and Hal Smith's infield out produced the second-inning run.

Bill Virdon dropped Don Blasingame's fly for a two-base error to start the eighth. Bill White drove in a run with a single, then scored following Ken Boyer's single and Cunningham's sacrifice fly.

Liston KO's Valdes In 3rd Round

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Sonny Liston, No. 3 ranked heavyweight, loosed a vicious barrage to score a third-round knockout of Nino Valdes in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The victory gave Liston a solid lift in his bid for a crack at heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson's crown.

The knockout came in 47 seconds of the third round. Liston, a 5-1 favorite, started slowly.

Two officials, Referee Bernie Weissman and Judge Frank Clark, called the first round even. The other judge, Howard Walsh gave the first round to Valdes 5-4.

The second round appeared a toss-up, but Weissman and Clark gave it to Liston 5-4 while Walsh called it even, 5-5.

Both fighters came into the ring at 211 pounds.

WHY DO WITHOUT A LITTLE LUXURY LIKE THIS... LET ALONE

THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

bigger brakes

Bigger, yes, and built with bonded linings for as much as 66% longer life. And how's this for proof that Chevy's a real stopper: in a NAS-CAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds, Chevrolet outstopped both of the "other two" time after time.

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

award-winning engines

The NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award goes to Chevrolet! Chevy wins for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines . . . for the establishment of new levels of V8 compactness combined with outstanding smoothness." And you can choose among eight V8's and the Six that won the Mobilgas Economy Run for its class.

full coil ride

You're the expert on ride, so you'll want to try Chevy's easygoing smoothness for yourself. MOTOR TREND magazine can give you a hint of what you're in for: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." And Full Coil springs, of course, never squeak, never need grease.

fresh styling

POPULAR SCIENCE magazine gave Chevy's styling a thoughtful look, then said it this way: "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." You'll find your own happy way of saying that Chevy's the only unmistakably modern car in its class.

greater roominess

Automobile Manufacturers Association records carry the facts on this. In a Chevy sedan, for example, you've got more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars! And Chevy's front seat hip room spreads up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

bigger savings

Here's solid proof that Chevrolet squeezes more miles out of a gallon: In the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, two Chevrolet sizes with Powerglide took the first two places in their class. Winning mileage: 22.38 m.p.g. And that, friends, took top honors for Chevy from every full-sized car!

higher trade-in

N.A.D.A.* Guide Books prove that your Chevrolet will keep its value. Chevy used car prices last year, for example, averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevrolet's field.

*National Automobile Dealers Association.

ROD STERLING's teleplay, "The Velvet Alley," starring Art Carney in the role of a successful writer, will be a "Playhouse 90" repeat on Thursday, Aug. 20. . . Charles Collingwood, CBS News Correspondent, has been named host of a new and widely expanded version of "Person to Person," which will resume on CBS Friday, Oct. 2.

Ed Sullivan has tentatively set Sept. 27 as the date for his 90-minute show originating in Moscow. . . Anna Sothern's guest when she returns for the new season on Oct. 5 will be Lucille Ball. . . Although George Gobel will refer to his wife, Alice, in his sketches next season, he has decided not to have anyone play the part.

Tonight at 7:30 on ch. 2 and 10 David Brian stars on "The Playhouse 90" as a man who gathered wealth by tramping on others, and who learns a new set of values after he almost dies on an operating table. . . Desi Arnaz makes a guest appearance on "December Bride" at 8 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10, when a hillside house is built without a retaining wall. . . Lily Ruskin (Singing Brington) forgets to deliver some corrected building plans to the contractor for her son-in-law.

Walter Brennan, as Grandpa McCoy, is dead set against women drivers and puts his foot down hard when Kate asks for driving lessons on "The Real McCoy" at 8:30 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7. Kate is portrayed by Kathy Nolan and her husband, Luke, by Richard Crenna. . . Jane Greer and Eddie Albert star on "Zane Grey Theatre" at 9 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10 in the story of a cattleman's daughter who elopes with a cowboy and is trailed with deadly intent by a bounty hunter.

Tony Dow, as Wally Cleaver, misunderstands when a new girl at school tells him he has a pug nose, and the result is confusion for the entire Cleaver family on "Leave It To Beaver" at 9 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7, also starring Jerry Mathers, Barbara Billingsley and Hugh Beaumont. . . Dana Wynter heads a starring cast that includes James Donald, Isabel Jeans, Inga Swenson, John Baragrey, Henry Daniell, and Lurene Tuttle in "The Wings of the Dove" on "Playhouse 90" at 9:30 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10, famed love story set in England and Italy early in the present century.

Dennis Morgan stars as investigator Dennis Chase on "21 Beacon Street" at 9:30 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4, and receives a request for help from a condemned prisoner who is innocent of the crime for which he is about to die. . . Following at 10 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4 silent screen star Francis X. Bushman and his wife are among the guests of Groucho Marx on "You Bet Your Life".

Bob Burlingame recently visited Clarence Arnold, a patient at the Veterans Hospital, Wilkes-Barre.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Budge attended the Grossman reunion at Litzitz, on Saturday.

Rev. Harold Ulmer, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, will conduct worship services at 9:30 a. m. in the Saylorsburg free house. His sermon is "Our Heritage in Christ." Sunday school will begin at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Annie Greene, of Philadelphia, spent several days with Mrs. Annetta Van Buskirk and family.

Story Wins Top Prize In Contest

HAROLD MYRA, RD. 1, Stroudsburg, recently won first prize in a short story contest sponsored by the Youth For Christ Magazine. He was awarded $100 for his article which appeared in the July issue of the nationwide publication.

Myra was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School and is currently a junior at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. He is majoring in English and Mathematics.

He has been selected to join Sigma Zeta Tau and Sigma Tau Delta Zeta, honorary science and English fraternities respectively. He is vice president of the latter. He is also president of the local YFC Alumni Club and his church youth group.

On July 25, Myra returned from Quantico, Va., where he successfully completed the first phase of the PLC aviation officer training program. After completing the second course next Summer, he will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant upon graduation from college.

Bill Allows Free Snacks In Taverns

COMING up for a final vote in the House this week is a bill which will attempt to bring back those pre-Prohibition-day free snacks in saloons.

Tuesday the House voted to include bologna with cheese as the standard equipment of the Pennsylvania retail liquor and malt beverage licensee.

The bill was described as a bipartisan measure that provided for "a snack" and should not be confused with free lunch in that bread and crackers were not included, thus precluding the serving of sandwiches.

A move to get herring included with the bologna and cheese was unsuccessful.

Riots In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Mobs rioted against the Venezuelan government and fought police and army troops for more than nine hours Tuesday in downtown Caracas.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

For Thursday, August 6, 1959 — March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Be alert to inconsistencies now. Safeguard your position, business, by being sagaciously slow in making decisions — especially during forenoon. In the P. M. the outlook is better.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't be imposed upon by outside influences. Analyze carefully before concluding business or financial transactions. Study each situation as it arises, but without anxiety. Avoid argument.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mild rays that could be helpful with the past, but the will to do, may be harder to put over now or experimental ideas than routine jobs. There's no need to strain, however. Be serene but purposeful.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Be specific when dealing with others. A major decision to be made. Cooperation is more easily obtained when others really know what is on your mind or what you want done. Think before acting.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Clarity of purpose and action will get good results. Know what you are after. The emphasis is on compromise — and you have that. Full of fun and the life of the party, when feeling good, but you can become moody, perhaps too dominating at times. Avoid these latter traits since they are not conducive to progress. Don't waste energy on non-essentials; avoid impulsiveness, snap judgments. You can make a high mark in many fields, especially those bringing you before the public or in the field of salesmanship.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Even though some matters may seem to move slowly, don't worry. Just keep trying. With sincere effort, you can benefit from noon on.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Don't force your opinions on others and do conserve energy during the early hours. Fine rays later in the day will encourage sound efforts.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Current obligations should be carefully handled. Use good judgment and don't be easily influenced. Stimulate ambition, incentive, aggression. Direct these ably and you will succeed admirably.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Your Jupiter favorably aspected, day can be reasonably profitable if you are cautious, don't take foolish chances or engage in questionable propositions. Make time for rest.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Some planetary restrictions indicated — especially before the year ends. Be extra effort, and thought to hold things in line. Make the most of your fine mental ability.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Your method of approach to others, when dealing with others, work as well as your own may make new and valuable friends. Keep thinking, trying.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You may have to resort to a strategy now. Emphasize a kindly, persuasive manner. Don't handling of money, personal affairs needed. Sports and outdoor pursuits favored.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Your method of approach to others, when dealing with others, work as well as your own may make new and valuable friends. Keep thinking, trying.

What Young People Think

Have Troubles? Listen To Teens

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

TO HEAR THE youngsters tell it, the teens are a troubled age. And tell it they will if you ask.

We asked 671 teen-agers scattered across the country to list their chief problems in order of their worrisomeness. Human nature being what it is, there was scarcely a youngster that put world problems ahead of his own difficulties.

And what does trouble the teens most?

No. 1 on the problem list is school and everything that goes with it: marks, studying, teachers, homework and the like.

"What student wouldn't worry about flunking tests, getting homework done, and everything else about school?" asks 14-year-old Robin Brown of Long Island, N. Y.

In complete agreement was Mary Kadish, 15, of Bloomfield, Conn., who listed "getting homework done and understanding the lessons taught" as her chief worry.

Akin to the school worries was the problem that finished in sixth place, John Borden, 17, of Valley Stream, N. Y., summed this one up when he said he worries most about "making a top university."

The youngsters are aware that more and more students are going to college each year and that the entrance competition is getting stiffer. Many complain that by the time they are ready to apply to the college of their choice, they won't have a chance of getting in.

Just behind the school problems, the teen-agers listed relations with the opposite sex as their favorite worry. Oddly enough, the boys found dating and love problems more aggravating than the girls.

Money Plagues Boys
One Philadelphia boy said, "When you've got girlfriend troubles everything else seems to go wrong."

Another social problem rates third: relations with friends. The girls fret twice as much about this as the boys. As 15-year-old Ronald Fournier of Hartford, Conn., said, "being ignored by someone you like very much" is quite a problem.

The fourth largest worry is a common one with folks of all ages: money. This is twice as big a problem with boys as with girls. Most of the young people worry about having enough money to cover their present needs: clothes, dates or odds and ends.

The fifth largest worry is spending money, but don't seem to be thinking of the future.

Young people apparently aren't as concerned about their future as they were in 1957 when a survey revealed a large percentage of teen-agers were concerned with what lay ahead. In this latest study, success in life is clear down in 10th place as a subject of worry.

The sixth largest worry is parents. "It's those parental restrictions," says Charlene Evenden, 17, of Portland, Ore.

Another big problem is sex. This is in seventh place, right after finding the right college. The girls are concerned with demands made on them which they don't wish to meet. The boys decline to discuss the nature of their sex problems.

The next biggest worry is developing a personality that will assure their popularity with other youngsters. After this is religion. Many say they are concerned about what they feel is a lack of religious feeling in the country.

Only a small fraction of the 671 teen-agers have a broad view about problems. One of these, 16-year-old Sharon Patterson of St. Louis, Mo., says the worries "that kids in their teens are branded as 'teen-agers' or delinquents."

And the biggest worry to 18-year-old Maurice Dee of Jamison Plain, Mass., is "the thought of another war."

Some youngsters have other, individual worries.

Scott Bradford, 17, of Exeter, N. H., asks, "Where can I sit and write away from the busy bustle of aluminum blinds?"

Pat Gray, 16, of Detroit, worries about his age. "I wish I was about two years older," he says.
